Chicago Lawyer Says He Looks on Bible as on Any Other Great Book, and That He Does Not Believe in Miracles.

"Do you believe in the Bible as the revealed will of God, inspired and trustworthy?" "I think that there is much that is of value in the Bible. I do not believe it was written or inspired by God. I believe it should be taken like any other book, and that the portions that at the time are of value—such portions of any book—as much inspired as, say, 'In His Image.'" attacks which have been made under cover of a scientific hypothesis, upon the authority of the Bible by unbelievers of every grade and class. The attack upon the authority of the Bible is organized, deliberate, malignant, and has only one purpose to be attained—to be uncovered, to be understood, and to be destroyed."

"Mr. Draper's entrance into the case has been most fortunate for the Christian church. He is the most conspicuous of the outspoken opponents of religion in the nation. He is the finished product of education—the most perfect that has yet developed in the United States. He embodies all that is cruel, heartless and destructive in evolution. He is our exhibit A and product of the folly of entrusting to the manhood of the age."

Darrow's reply follows:

Mr. Bryan has done me the honor to call me the finest product of evolution. I believe I am. I hope that many finer products of evolution are living and still to come. If I am the finest product of evolution, I am the finest product of evolution to him. Mr. Bryan is not the finest product of evolution, but he comes under the classification of those who revert to type.

Whether Mr. Bryan or I are the finest product of what shall be the outcome of real religion, I am not able to say. Far be it from mind the fact that for several years the Sunday newspapers have carried his preachments to the world. I thought Mr. Bryan ought to know. I therefore thought to offer in evidence his testimony as to whether the Bible should be interpreted literally. How much Bryan knows about the Bible, or how much he can best be judged by his answers.

"Of course, I cannot help having some pity for Mr. Bryan for being obliged to show his gross ignorance by simple and competent witnesses. I have sympathy for the witnesses stand. However, group leave immediately. Hostile demonstrations were organized, which were quieted somewhat by the local authorities and by Fascist leaders. During a lull in the demonstrations, Amendola left in an automobile for Pistola, accompanied by a truck load of carabinieri and by members of the Montecitorio Fascist organization.

It was during this trip when the automobile was some distance from Montecitorio and after the escort had left it that a group of men blocked the road, seized Amendola and clubbed him severely.
"It must be noted," says Mussolini's statement, "that the deplorable incident occurred in the depths of the countryside and notwithstanding efforts made by the public authorities and local Fascist leaders to protect the opposition leader, who had arrived in the section at a particularly delicate moment."
The injured deputy's description of his ordeal recalls that the Italian Senate acquitted for lack of evidence the persons accused of attacking him in December, 1923.

GRANDSON ERECTS BUSCH MEMORIAL REJECTED BY CITY

$14,000 Fountain, as Tribute to Late Brewer, Was Turned Down by Nelson Cunniff.

NOW ON LAWN ON A. A. BUSCH JR. HOME

Objection Was to Central Figure of Girl—Municipality Later Offered to Accept It.

Installation of a $14,000 memorial fountain to the late Adolphus Busch, on the grounds of the home of his grandson, August A. Busch Jr., at 5577 Lindell boulevard, today disclosed that it was offered to the city as a public memorial and rejected by Nelson Cunniff, then Director of Public Welfare, because he believed it unsuitable for public display.

In announcing the rejection it was stated that the nude bronze of a girl, which forms the central figure of the fountain, was not adapted to use as a public memorial. Later the city modified its stand and offered a site for the memorial, but Mrs. Adolphus Busch, widow of the brewer, felt the city had shown itself unappreciative of her offer and the fountain was set aside to be used at one of the Busch homes.

Executed in Berlin.
The fountain was executed in Berlin by Prof. J. Boese. The full size figure of the girl, to which Cunniff objected, is set above a large basin made of polished Swedish granite. In the right hand the figure carries an urn from which issues a stream of water to fall into the basin below. Set about on the figure, on the edge of the basin, are the figures of a serpent, a turtle, and a sea lion, and directly below the pedestal on which the figure stands, is a crocodile. On the face of the shaft, below the girl's figure, is a large bronze medallion bearing the likeness of Adolphus Busch, one of the founders of the brewing industry which still bears his name.

The memorial was brought here in May, 1923, about the time the offer of the work to the city was made. Following its rejection by the city, it was sent to the Busch estate, Grant Farm, in St. Louis County, to be erected there.

However, when a few St. Louisans learned the city had rejected a work which artists had pronounced a thing of real beauty, several prominent men here appealed to Director Cunniff to reconsider his decision and subsequently Mrs. Busch decided the city should accept the fountain to be placed on Kingshighway boulevard on the border of Forest Park.

Mrs. Busch refused. But Mrs. Busch decided the city had shown an indifferent attitude toward the gift. Later August A. Busch gave the fountain to his son for his home on Lindell boulevard.

Its installation virtually has been completed and it stands a few yards from the boulevard directly opposite Forest Park and not far from the place where the city finally agreed to place it.

Cunniff today declined to discuss the incident, except to say that the city had offered a site on Kingshighway.

Man's Body Found on Highway.
KANKAKEE, Ill., July 22.—Three men in an automobile are sought after the finding of the body of a man, apparently slain, on the Dixie Highway south of Beecher in Will County. Two men in an automobile reached Monmouth yesterday and reported the finding of the body. They were headed south and trailing another car in which were four men. They heard a shot south of Beecher, the body of the man was thrown from the automobile, which did not stop. The man was dead with a bullet wound through the head. The men in the rear car followed when those in the front car turned and opened fire.

DIES WHILE SEATED IN AUTO
Frank Mair, 63 years old, a retired merchant, of 4979 Loughborough avenue, died of heart disease while seated in his automobile at 6 p. m. yesterday in front of his home.

He had got into the car with his grandson, Charles Kuhlman, 17 years old, and was preparing to start the car when he suddenly died. The boy ran into the house and notified the family. A physician was called, who stated that Mair had been a sufferer from heart disease and kidney trouble, the former probably causing death.

Woman Swallows Iodine.
Policemen were called at 8 a. m. today to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll, 1702A Cora avenue, where they were informed by a physician that Miss May Carroll, 32, had swallowed a quantity of iodine in a moment of despondency but that medical attention would result in her recovery. The police report stated that Miss Carroll said her act was prompted by despondency over reverses in a millinery business she had been operating.

SHOENBERG FUNERAL AT TEMPLE ISRAEL

Many Business and Professional Men Attend the Services.

The funeral of Moses Shoenberg, vice-president of the May Department Stores Co., held this morning in Temple Israel, was attended by many men prominent in business and professional life, and by men and women of less prominence, who knew Shoenberg as a kindly and interested employer.

The famous Barr store, of which Shoenberg was in active charge until he was incapacitated by a stroke of apoplexy three and one-half years ago, was closed during the hour of the funeral, from 10 to 11 a. m. At the Stix, Baer & Fuller store, business was suspended for the 5 minutes beginning at 10 o'clock.

The broad spaces at the front of the Temple were banked high with flowers, and many large wreaths and other elaborate designs were displayed. The fragrance of flowers filled the building.

Nearly the entire seating space of the lower floor was occupied. In the absence of the Rev. Dr. Leon Harrison, the funeral was conducted by Rabbi Julian Miller of Temple B'nai El, who ministers to all the Reformed congregations of the city during the summer vacation.

"The history of a man's life is written by his personality," Rabbi Miller said. "This is the part that is not conveyed by the lists of business connections and public distinctions that one reads in the newspapers. Col. Shoenberg's personality made for him friendships which he prized more than wealth, more than social position."

Interment was in New Mt. Sinai Cemetery.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Mrs. Laura MacKenna Nirdlinger was granted a divorce in Paris yesterday from Frederick G. Nixon Nirdlinger, former theatrical manager of this city, who, in February, 1924, eloped to Hagerstown, Md., and married Miss Charlotte Nash of St. Louis—the "Miss St. Louis" of the 1923 Atlantic City beauty pageant.

The decree was granted on grounds of infidelity and it is understood that Nirdlinger agreed to a generous financial settlement in favor of his wife who consented to the divorce. Nirdlinger, who is 50 years old and was divorced from his first wife 29 years ago, was first served with divorce papers by Mrs. Laura Nirdlinger on March 5, 1924, a few days after his marriage to Miss Nash, but no further action was then taken in the case and the theatrical man went on a wedding trip to Europe with his new bride.

PRIEST JUSTIFIES ANTI-EVOLUTION ACT

Father Wilbur Would Not Have Theory Taught "As Certainly or Probably True."

The Rev. Russell J. Wilbur of St. Cronan's Catholic Church, known as an advanced thinker on sociological and civic topics, declared in a luncheon talk yesterday that any local school board, or any State, would be justified in forbidding evolution to be taught "as certainly or probably true."

Father Wilbur, speaking before the Comopolitan Club at the American Annex Hotel, said he did not approve of the wording of a part of the Tennessee statute, and that he thought it a mistake to refer, in the statute, to the Bible account of man's creation.

"That has the appearance of establishing a kind of Bibleism as a state religion," he said, "and while it is more apparent than real, the appearance should be avoided. The law should omit mention of the Bible and should forbid the teaching to children that man is descended from the lower animals. That was the real intent of the Tennessee law, as stated by Judge Raulston."

"I admit that the theory of evolution is not necessarily inconsistent with a monothestic philosophy of life, or with the defined dogma of the church. The Catholic church has no defined dogma as to the interpretation of Genesis, and any theory which holds that God exists and that the universe depends on God may be consistent with that book."

"But in most of the teaching of the theory of evolution, no distinction is made between human reason and animal intelligence, or between the place of man and the animals in creation. The effect of such teaching is to make a man think himself an animal, like other animals, without moral restraint."

"Descent of man from the lower animals is not a proved fact, and the usual method of its presentation, blurring the distinction between man and the animals, has such a disastrous effect on the human imagination that any school board, or any state legislating for its schools, is justified in forbidding such teaching."

"I venture to predict that the act will be held constitutional by the State and Federal courts, and I believe myself that the act is entirely justified upon the ground of public welfare. If we do not permit religious propaganda to be made at public expense, we should not permit antireligious propaganda to be made at public expense; and, as the facts stand today, the evolutionary theory is antireligious propaganda."

Father Wilbur said that William Jennings Bryan, though not a man of great learning, was a keen thinker and deeply religious, and that he deserved credit for making this partly deliberate and partly instinctive conspiracy of our would-be intellectuals against the foundations of religion and morality.

He said that the newspapers seemed delighted to capitalize and propagandize any attempt to undermine the foundations of religion. "The press of America," he declared, "has taken an unholy and positively devilish delight in using the evolutionary theory to destroy religion in the masses of men."

"It would seem that the press desires to have an undisputed away over the public mind, a mind which it desires to reduce to a soft, impressionable mass, upon which it can impress whatever stamp it pleases. The press is instinctively jealous of religious faith and moral principle, because those qualities are resistant and an obstacle to the omnipotence of the press."

Three of Mayor Miller's "three-dot" appointees will meet tomorrow to perfect details of the Mayor's most recent scheme for organization of all city employees, "three-dot," "two-dot," "three-dot," and even no-dot, into a mutual benefit society. Control will be in four trustees, the Mayor and three "three-dot" men.

The announced purpose is to provide an organization to which all city employees who desire may contribute a specified amount each month to provide a fund from which any city employee, whether a contributing member or not, may borrow on a note signed also by two other employees.

It is proposed to obtain a tract of land on the Meramec River, to construct a club house, and have a place to which members may take their families for outings.

Barney Grosberg, 5548 Delmar, confronted at Door by Masked Pair.

Barney Grosberg, who is president of Barney's Army Goods Store, responded to a ring of the doorbell of his first-floor apartment, 5548 Delmar boulevard, at 9:10 o'clock last night, and was confronted by two men, armed with automatic pistols and masked by handkerchiefs.

"We want your money and jewelry," they announced. Followed by the robbers, Grosberg retreated to the living room, where his wife, Rena, was in conversation with Grosberg's brother, David Grosberg, 5531 Waterman avenue, the latter's wife, Rosalind, and Mrs. Celia Youdell of Chicago, Grosberg's aunt.

From Barney Grosberg they took $20 and a diamond ring valued at $1000, from his wife a diamond ring valued at $1800, and from David Grosberg $30. They overtook a $200 pin in Barney Grosberg's tie and a $2000 diamond ring which Mrs. Rosalind Grosberg held in her hand. The robbers respected a request that they not take wedding rings from the women. The jewelry was insured.

One robber started toward a room in which a two-week-old child was asleep, but stopped when Mrs. Rena Grosberg cried, "Don't touch my baby." They then walked out and got away.

The robbers were nervous throughout, and repeatedly gave assurances that they did not intend to hurt anyone. One was described as being about 21 years old, five feet four inches in height and wearing gray clothes, straw hat and shell glasses, and the other 30 years old, five feet nine inches, and wearing gray clothes and cap.

RIGHTS OF CITIZENSHIP RESTORED TO ST. LOUISAN
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 22.—An unconditional pardon, restoring full rights of citizenship, was granted by Gov. Baker yesterday to John Mahan, 71 years old, of 2215 North Broadway, St. Louis, who was paroled by Gov. Hyde in 1922 after serving four months of a 10-year sentence for killing Melvin Tobin, 3828 Kennerly avenue, who had kicked Mahan's dog.

Restoration of citizenship to Mahan was urged by State Senator Joseph Brogan of St. Louis. Three members of the Penal Board approved a pardon recommendation.

However, there are those in the City Hall who see the possibility of interesting political situations in the organizations. The politicians recognize the political sagacity and acumen of Comptroller Nolte and Collector Koeln, and offer the suggestion that if employees of the departments enter the organization, there will be manipulation which will keep the Mayor and his followers on the jump to keep up with them.

The exact details of the plans probably will not be known until the Mayor returns from his vacation the latter part of August.

DRIVERS FLEE AFTER MAN AND WOMAN ARE RUN DOWN
In Second Accident, Operator of Motor Cycle Abandons His Machine in Flight.
Charles House, 23, of 1511 Hickory street, was knocked insensate and seriously injured at 4 p. m. yesterday, at Vandeventer and Chouteau avenues, by an automobile, the driver of which feloniously fled from the scene. He suffered fracture of the right shoulder blade and severe cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Emma Flynn, 60, of 1837 O'Fallon street, had a similar experience while crossing O'Fallon street in front of her home. She was knocked down by a motor cycle, the driver of which abandoned his machine and fled on foot. The police have the machine and are seeking the owner. Mrs. Flynn suffered lacerations of the scalp and body.

Gilbert Santen, 8, of 1011 Sidney street, suffered fracture of the skull when knocked down by an automobile as he jumped off the back of a wagon directly in the path of the machine at 4 p. m. near Eighteenth and Sidney streets.

CITIZENS' ARMY CAMP OPENS AT BARRACKS

First Arrivals Are Arkansas Youths; Month's Training to Start Tomorrow.

The Citizens' Military Training Camp opened today at Jefferson Barracks with the arrival of the first civilians who are to take a month's intensive military training, beginning tomorrow, when companies will be formed and placed in training as units.

The first men to reach camp today were three youths from Lonoke County, Ark.—Harry Jackson, Julian Cobb and John H. Duncan—who came by railroad. Following their arrival men from Southern Illinois and Eastern Missouri began to arrive.

The district embraced for this camp is Northern Arkansas, Southern Illinois and Eastern Missouri, from which more than 1000 men have enrolled for the training.

Early today Col. H. R. Ery of Chicago, chief of staff of the Eighty-Sixth Division, began an inspection of the reserve officers in camp. These and officers of the regular army are on duty at the depots today to receive the civilians, who are to become soldiers for one month.

The men at the camp will be trained under command of reserve officers whose work will be supervised by officers of the regular army.

Lewis Harvey was held up by an armed man in his pharmacy at 798 Bayard avenue at 11 p. m. and robbed of $25.

SPECULATION AS TO COOLIDGE THIRD TERM AMBITION

President's Frowning Upon Dawes' Activities Taken as Indication He Will Seek Re-Election.

HOOVER AND LOWDEN AS POSSIBILITIES

If the Executive Follows Roosevelt Theory, Cabinet Officer Is Regarded as Logical Heir Apparent.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-23 Wyant Building.
WASHINGTON, July 22.—The Swampscott frown upon the activities of Vice President Charles G. Dawes in fighting the Senate rules, contained in dispatches from the summer White House, has revived the Coolidge third term question in Washington. The Republican field is filled with potential candidates who are listening intently to anything that may emanate from the neighborhood of the President relative to the succession, regardless of how far away it may be, and many of them are watching to see whether there will be an opportunity to break the strangle hold which the President has upon the party at the present time.

It is this feature of the situation which makes the President's contemplated legislative adventure of next winter more hazardous, for if there should occur an opportunity to trip him, it will not be overlooked.

Only the holder ones are willing to look squarely in the face the possibility of an encounter with the President for the nomination should his administration be reasonably successful, and if it is not successful they realize, also, that the nomination will be reduced in value.

The intimation coming from Swampscott that the activities of Dawes are musing up the party situation is regarded here as the first intimation, coming from the President himself, that he is looking forward to another term in the White House, although it has been assumed that this is his intention.

Insurgent Farmers for Lowden.
The hint that Dawes' activities are violating the rules of the game may apply also to the reported ambitions of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, also from Illinois, the home State of Dawes, to become the candidate.

His candidacy is being boosted by the insurgent farmers of the Mississippi Valley. Should President Coolidge decide that his accidental term shall be regarded as his first term, as did Theodore Roosevelt, it is accepted among the political leaders here that he will attempt to pass on the succession exactly after the manner of Roosevelt in choosing William Howard Taft.

In that event, Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, is regarded as the logical heir, although it by no means follows that President Coolidge would regard him in that light. There is no doubt among the Republican leaders in Washington that Hoover is anticipating just such a situation and is keeping the ways cleared.

In addition to the two Illinois candidates, Lowden and Dawes, whom the Coolidge leaders are expecting to run against each other, Ohio, as usual, has a group of potential candidates who are straining at the leash.

Longworth Also Has Ambitions.
Senator Willis of the State is reported to be busily engaged in running for the two offices of Senator and President at the present time. Nicholas Longworth, now Speaker of the House, is not without ambitions, while the friends of Senator Simeon D. Fess are pointing to him with pride. "Whenever the opportunity offers," Friends of these men point out that any man from Ohio who has any prominence at all may always be regarded as a presidential possibility.

Indiana, another doubtful State, has "Sunny Jim" Watson to offer, while in Kansas Senator Capper is regarded as a willing person.

New York is not being overlooked in the canvass of possibilities and should Senator Wadsworth run against the redoubtable Al Smith and win, he would immediately leap into the presidential class. However, there are so many "ifs" in the way of Wadsworth at the present time, that interest in him is purely academic.

Name of Borah Discussed.
From the Rocky Mountain region comes Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, credited with having the presidential "bee" well developed. However, it would only be in the case of a progressive revolt within the Republican party, that Borah would be in the running. His resourcefulness as a politician, however, is not being overlooked and his name enters into every discussion of the presidential succession raised in Washington. In the party or outside of it he is looked on by the regular leaders as possessing an infinite capacity to make trouble.

Fonck Tells of Offer From Moors.
By the Associated Press.
MARSEILLES, France, July 22.—Capt. René Fonck, former French ace, and now a member of the Chamber of Deputies, says that 18 months ago Abd-el-Krim, leader of the rebellious Moroccan tribesmen, offered him his own conditions if he would organize an aviation service against the Spaniards. Fonck said he refused the offer and later informed M. Poincaré, then Premier, of the possible danger to France. Fonck reports that an agent of the chief declared the Riffians had German instructors and that English firms had made overtures promising quick delivery of planes.

Woman Lost Faith In All Medicine

But After Many Years Finally Does Find Relief From Gas On Stomach

"I had taken medicine for years without permanent relief, so I had no faith. But I am wonderfully glad I tried Adierka, for I have taken only one-half bottle and can eat anything now without causing trouble. Before I could eat nothing but bread and milk; everything else caused gas and formed gas. After taking Adierka I am eating again." (Signed) Mrs. J. B. Manning.

Intestinal Evacuation
There is now offered to the public a liquid preparation which is not only a wonderfully effective and QUICK intestinal evacuant, but which also seems to stimulate the glands of the intestinal tract and to cause expulsion of flatus (GAS). This preparation, known as Adierka, is a valuable agent for the purpose of clearing the bowels of matter which has been in the system a long time and which other less effective means have been unable to dislodge. It is often astonishing the great amount of matter Adierka draws from the intestinal canal—even right after a natural movement it sometimes brings out unexpected quantities of additional matter. Many times it brings out much GAS, thus relieving pressure in the abdomen. Adierka is especially valuable when PROMPT action is necessary or to encourage the elimination of metabolic poisons through the bowels.

Reports from Physicians
"I congratulate you on the good results from Adierka, since I have known a single spoonful of Adierka often produces surprising and gratifying results in cases of obstinate constipation or gas trouble. If Adierka does not bring relief in 24 to 36 hours the doctor or reputable physician should be consulted." (Signed) Dr. J. B. Manning.

GRIESEDIACK LABELS ON SEIZED BEER

Mark of Belleville Brewery
Also on Some of 335 Cases
Found in Garage.

Labels of the Griesedieck Brewery of St. Louis and of the Western Brewing Co. of Belleville were found on some of the 335 cases of real beer confiscated in a police raid on a garage at the southwest corner of McNair avenue and Cushing street yesterday afternoon.

The police believe the place was a distributing plant for real beer, and that bottles of home brew, "spiked" with alcohol and soda tablets, were mixed in with the bottles from a brewing plant, so that the drinker might get a bottle of old-fashioned beer or might get a rank imitation.

Auto Repair Plant a "Screen."

The raiders, led by Detective Sgt. Coakley, confiscated 150 cases of home brew, 78 cases of beer with brewery labels, and 185 cases which appeared to be a mixture of bottles of brewery beer and the "spiked" home product. The finding of 78 cases of non-alcoholic beverage was taken to indicate that the "spiking" process was to be applied to it, as well as to the product of 250 gallons of beer mash which was contained in 14 casks. Two bottles of malt syrup, 13 gallons of alcohol and two bottles of soda tablets were found, as well as "taps" and capping apparatus.

This stock was found in a first floor rear room and on the second floor, and Clarence Fox, in charge of the automobile repair business on the first floor, which served as a screen for the beer plant, was arrested.

Edward J. McNichols, of 2105 Victor street, owner of the garage property, was arrested. He said he rented the place to a tenant, and did not know what use was made of it.

18 Arrests in Saloon Raids.
The police made 18 other arrests yesterday afternoon and last night, including 18 arrests in raids on 15 saloons. Two policy games were raided. In one of these raids, at 225 Walnut street, 28 negro collectors and the agent to whom they made their returns were arrested; and $62 was confiscated.

In a raid at 2317 Cooper street, 5000 gallons of corn mash were found fermenting in a vat, in a shed at the rear, and whisky and beer were found in the house. Mrs. Sam Salamon was arrested, and said that her husband, who was away, rented the shed to a tenant.

In a raid on John Kinney's saloon, 554 Easton avenue, 25 cases of beer were found in a hallway connecting with the next-door house. Kinney was arrested.

Thirty-four police characters were included in the arrests. Three men were charged with carrying concealed weapons and one with running a handbook.

SCHOOL OF MINES GETS FOSSIL

REMAINS OF MONSTER FISH

Skeleton Said to Be 6,000,000 Years Old Presented to South Dakota Museum.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.—There has just been placed in the museum of the South Dakota School of Mines the fossilized skeleton of a huge prehistoric fish, which, according to estimates made by President C. C. O'Hara of the school, lived in the waters which then covered what now is South Dakota nearly 6,000,000 years ago.

The skeleton was turned over to the School of Mines by Glenn Jepson, LeMoyne Cook and James Bump, students of the school, who spent one month digging up the skeleton and preparing it for shipment to the School of Mines. The skeleton was unearthed from a 100-foot shale bank in the "brakes" of the Cheyenne River, in the extreme southwestern corner of South Dakota.

The total length of the skeleton is 12 feet, 11 inches. When living the fish is estimated to have weighed not less than 2000 pounds. Its tail fin measures 34 inches in width and its skull is 39 inches long.

Wireless Causes Cable Rate Cut.

Continuation of the Associated Press. GOTHENBURG, Sweden, July 2.—Wireless transmission of messages has so developed in Sweden that the Government's station at Grineton now sends about 95 per cent of all telegrams from Sweden to the United States. The receiving station, on the other hand, gets only about 40 per cent of the telegrams coming from the United States. In order to meet the new competition the cable companies have reduced their pre-war rates. The Grineton wireless station was built for direct communication with the United States.

ADVERTISING Paying for the Home

Up to two years ago my money all went to doctors and medicine for my stomach trouble. I was constantly filled with gas and no medicine helped me permanently until I tried a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy at that time with excellent results. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the material causes for the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. POPULAR TERMINAL R. R. FIRE-MAN PRAISES HERB JUICE

Says He Feels That It Has Added Years to His Life.

"After ten years of suffering from chronic constipation, indigestion and gastritis, and after trying hundreds of remedies for these ailments, and spending considerable money, I had come to the point where I thought nothing would ever do me any good," said Mr. A. E. Schlessinger, well-known and respected fireman for the Terminal R. R. and who resides at 5333 Oriole Ave., St. Louis, Mo., in a conversation with the Herb Juice man very recently.

Continuing Mr. Schlessinger said: "I could not eat any meat or acid foods lest I suffer for hours afterward. It seemed that my food just fermented as soon as it reached my stomach and the distressed feeling from gas was almost unbearable. I also suffered a great deal from constipation. Like everyone else who is suffering from this trouble, I tried every remedy that my friends mentioned and tried them all, but nothing seemed to give me any relief whatsoever until I tried your great remedy, Herb Juice. I am very proud to say that this medicine has given me back my health. Before I had finished my first bottle I knew that I had found something that hit the spot. I have continued taking Herb Juice, and today I can eat anything I want and as much of it as I crave, and am never bothered any more with indigestion or gas. My bowels are in wonderful condition. I never suffer any more from constipation.

"I also give Herb Juice to my children with wonderful results. It is without doubt the greatest medicine for people of all ages, that I have ever known. I think that every family in Saint Louis should have a bottle of Herb Juice in their home at all times, because it has no comparison as a good mild laxative, as well as a wonderful tonic and general body builder. I heartily endorse Herb Juice and recommend it to everyone I know."

Hundreds are calling daily to see the Herb Juice man, who has established headquarters at Judge & Delph, 514 Washington Ave., giving statements for publication and praising Herb Juice that their friends may be induced to try the great remedy which is relieving so many sufferers in Saint Louis.

POPULAR TERMINAL R. R. FIRE-MAN PRAISES HERB JUICE

Says He Feels That It Has Added Years to His Life.

"After ten years of suffering from chronic constipation, indigestion and gastritis, and after trying hundreds of remedies for these ailments and spending considerable money, I had come to the point where I thought nothing would ever do me any good," said Mr. A. E. Schlessinger, well-known and respected fireman for the Terminal R. R. and who resides at 5332 Oriole Ave., St. Louis, Mo., in a conversation with the Herb Juice man very recently.

Continuing Mr. Schlessinger said: "I could not eat any meats or acid foods for hours after meals. I seemed that my food just fermented as soon as it reached my stomach and the distressed feeling from gas was almost unbearable. I also suffered a great deal from constipation. Like everyone else who is illing, I listened to the recommendation of every remedy that my friends mentioned and tried them all, but nothing seemed to give me any relief whatsoever until I tried your great remedy, Herb Juice. I am very proud to say that this medicine has given me back my health. Before I had finished my first bottle I knew that I had found something that hit the spot. I have continued taking Herb Juice, and today I can eat anything I want and as much of it as I crave, and am never bothered any more with indigestion or gas. My bowels are in wonderful condition. I never suffer any more from constipation.

"I also give Herb Juice to my children with wonderful results. It is without doubt the greatest medicine for people of all ages, that I have ever known. I think that every family in Saint Louis should have a bottle of Herb Juice in their home at all times, because it has no comparison as a good mild laxative, as well as a wonderful tonic and general body builder. I heartily endorse Herb Juice and recommend it to everyone I know."

Hundreds are calling daily to see the Herb Juice man, who has established headquarters at Judge & Delph, 514 Washington Ave., giving statements for publication and praising Herb Juice that their friends may be induced to try the great remedy which is relieving so many sufferers in Saint Louis.

CROWD OF 800 HONORS
"CHAMPION OPTIMIST"

Arthur Rump, Invalid, Presented With Floral Tokens and $500 in Cash.

Arthur Rump sat in a wheel chair on the front porch of his home, 4943 Columbia avenue, last night, while a United States Senator, a Congressman and others praised him and a crowd of about 800 listened.

The "champion optimist," as Rump has become known in the 15 years that he has been paralyzed, was celebrating his fifty-first birthday. The celebration was arranged by the Optimists' Club, of which he is an honorary member. Music was furnished by a 40-piece band of postal employees and Alhambra Grotto members.

While a postal employee, Rump suffered the injuries which resulted in paralysis. In recent years he has conducted from his bed and wheel chair a correspondence for better wages and working conditions for postal workers, and last night Senator Williams, Representative Newton and Postmaster Alt credited him with being responsible to a considerable extent for the recent wage increase.

Other speakers were E. M. Reimer, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers; Roy V. Flesch, president of the Optimists' Club and Lawrence McDaniels, former Circuit Attorney.

Numerous floral tokens were received from friends and neighbors, and cash gifts aggregating $500 were presented during the evening. Rump supports himself by soliciting magazine subscriptions by telephone, and a Government pension.

"CAN'T DRIVE AND LOOK AT A PRETTY GIRL AT SAME TIME"

Belleville Magistrate Fines Man Who Crashed Into Another Car While Doing That.

"You cannot drive an automobile and have your eyes on a pretty girl at the same time," said Magistrate Wagner of Belleville to Frank Suchy, of Blinker Station, yesterday, when he fined him $10 and costs on a charge of reckless driving.

Suchy was arrested at Forty-second and West Main streets after he had crashed into a car belonging to John Schaller of Centerville Station. The policeman stated that he was on the front end of a Suburban street car when Suchy passed and appeared to be attracted by one of the girl passengers. A moment later the car stopped and the girl alighted. Suchy looked back and was watching the girl according to the officer, when the crash occurred.

Gasoline Becomes Ignited While William Kordick, 21, Is Having Tank Filled.

William Kordick, 21 years old, of 2025 Dolman street, stopped at a gasoline station at 6241 Gravois avenue, about 10:30 o'clock last night, to have his automobile tank filled, and while the filling was in progress he stood near the machine smoking a cigarette.

Presently he flicked the ash from the cigarette near the gasoline tank and there was an explosion. A spark had ignited the liquid in the tank. Kordick suffered burns on both legs and was taken to city hospital. The automobile was damaged $10.

COUNT, WHO TWICE MARRIED WEALTH, PLEADS POVERTY

Flat Broke, Says Austrian Nobleman in Answer to Court Action at Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The Count Rudolph Festetics de Toina of Austria, who went on two honeymoon trips to the Canine Islands of the South Seas, was a defendant in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday and declared himself without funds. He was being sued for $130 for professional services by Dr. Michael Michaelowski, a Brooklyn physician. With his counsel, the Count declared he was flat broke. He is living at Kelly's Hotel in Brooklyn, a place now under padlock for violation of the prohibition law. Count Festetics has twice been married, once to Miss Ella Haggin, a granddaughter of J. B. Haggin, wealthy turfman. This was in 1892. They were divorced in 1902. His second marriage was in 1908 to Miss Alice Wetherby, daughter of Gardiner Wetherby, who owned the Hotel Manhattan. On both occasions the Count set sail in a yacht for far-off waters. The first Countess made the hardships of the voyage part of her grounds for divorce. The second Countess, as was the first, was said to be wealthy. Eventually she, too, sued for divorce, but the records do not show whether the action ever was completed.

DRIVERS' LICENSE LAW FOR MISSOURI SOUGHT

Traffic Court for St. Louis Also Is Proposed by Safety Council.

"Legislation requiring all drivers of motor vehicles to be licensed is being recognized as one of the greatest factors in reducing deaths and injuries on the streets and highways," Arthur T. Meyer, a member of the Executive Committee of the St. Louis Safety Council, said today upon his return from a conference of law enforcement authorities appointed by Secretary Hoover to consider certain phases of the traffic accident problem.

"This requirement, now in effect in several Eastern states, means that all motor car drivers must carry a card signifying they have passed an examination showing they are mentally and physically capable of driving an automobile. Failure to produce this card, upon being stopped, when driving at any time, by an officer of the law, results in payment of a sizeable fine for driving without a license. The revocation of license clause in such a law is one of its most important features. In some cases power of revocation is placed in the judiciary, while in other cases license can be revoked or suspended only by the State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. Some states make revocation of license mandatory in cases of driving while intoxicated, reckless driving and speeding.

"In this day, when automobiles mean so much to those who own them, it is greater punishment to suspend or permanently revoke the license of a motorist for some willful violation of traffic laws than to assess against him either a heavy fine or a term in the workhouse, although both of these measures are effective in many cases. Our committee will, undoubtedly recommend in its report that the revocation of licenses be given every consideration by the states who now have no such provision in their laws.

"Our committee also recognizes the need for judges who are expert in traffic matters. It is our belief that judges trying only traffic cases soon become thoroughly conversant with driving conditions and are better able to mete out justice than those who try other cases besides traffic cases. So we favor the establishment of traffic courts for the trial only of traffic cases.

"The St. Louis Safety Council realizes the need for a license law in Missouri and a Traffic Court in St. Louis, and will exert its energies to secure them. A comprehensive campaign to secure the passage of a license law in Missouri at the next Legislature is now being planned by the Safety Council.

HOGAN DUE TO BEGIN

JAIL SENTENCE TOMORROW Sheriff Schuler Says Attorney for "Jelly Roll" Promised That He Would Appear.

Tomorrow, on Sheriff Schuler's calendar is the day when "Jelly Roll" Hogan is scheduled to appear and begin serving his 30-day jail sentence, under a conviction for carrying concealed weapons.

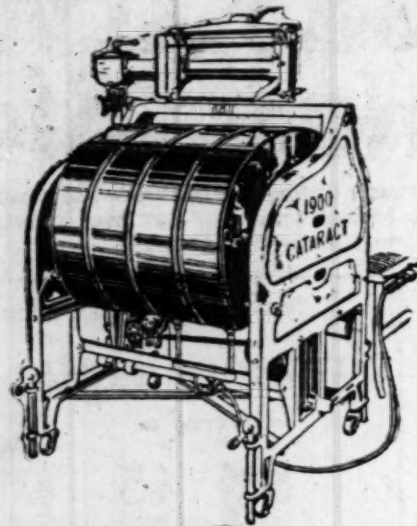

The Sheriff received a capias for Hogan's arrest July 14, and he must report to the Court within 30 days as to the service upon the capias. Schuler said today that he spoke to Hogan's lawyer, Sigmund Rasmussen, when he first received the document, and that Rasmussen told him Hogan would report July 23, which is tomorrow. PROSPERITY IS HERE—NO MAN OR WOMAN
WHEN SICK CAN TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OPPORTUNITIES THAT COME WITH PROSPEROUS TIMES

Mr. Brooks, a man 69 years old, came to me with a bad case of Internal, Protruding Piles, of 15 years' standing. I cured him sound and well.

Any person, who is afflicted with rectal troubles, should come without delay. The longer an afflicted person goes without a cure, the more critical their condition becomes. Rectal troubles never get well by the use of salves, lotions, suppositories, etc. They must be treated by a specialist, who knows from experience what to do, and how to do it.

My terms are reasonable, being adjusted to suit the patient. All I want to know is that after I effect a cure, I will get the fee we agree upon. If the patient wishes, they can deposit the amount we agree upon in the First National Bank, in St. Louis, payable to me after they are cured, and they will be the judge, or they can pay by the week or month.

DR. C. MATTHEW COE

St. Louis, Mo., June 22, 1925.

Dr. C. Matthew Coe, 501 Pine St.

I am a man 69 years old and had been afflicted with internal and protruding Piles for 15 years. Your prompt and efficient cure seems all the more remarkable for because of my age and the number of years I had been afflicted. And also because I had been operated on by a very reputable surgeon but had failed to obtain a cure. I cannot say too much for the good you did for me, nor do I miss an opportunity to tell around else I know who is afflicted, that your office is the place to get rid of the misery caused by any form of rectal trouble.

The Correct System of HOME HEATING is the one where the warm air currents are automatically supplied with the proper amount of MOISTURE.

PHYSICIANS will tell you that the scientifically correct heating system is the one that not only warms the air but humidifies it at the same time—because moisture in the air is essential to the maintenance of health.

Warm air without moisture parches the skin, lowers the vitality, causes a feeling of general discomfort, is the frequent cause of throat and nasal irritations and renders the system more susceptible to colds, influenza, pneumonia and kindred ills.

Our grandparents, as you remember, always kept a pan of water on the back of the stove—a crude but effective method of keeping the air in a healthful condition.

But with the passing of heating stoves and the introduction of a central heating unit in the basement of the home, a different condition was encountered—and in no other heating system has the problem been so completely solved as in the modern and improved Warm Air Heating System.

A Warm Air Heating System, properly installed and properly operated, will maintain ideal air conditions in the home better than any other heating system in existence.

It is the only system by means of which the air conditions in the home can be easily regulated and are under constant control.

It is the only system that creates and maintains a constant movement of diffused air through the entire house.

It is the only system that automatically supplies the percentage of moisture in the air necessary to good health.

It is the only system that can be provided with an air screening device for the removal of dust and dirt so prevalent in larger cities. It can be automatically regulated so as to require the minimum of attention.

It is quicker in operation than any other system. The warm air is pouring out of the registers within seven minutes after the fire is started.

It costs less to install than any other system and the maintenance cost is practically negligible.

It is the only system that utilizes no furniture space in the house and adds practically no weight to the building.

There is no longer any uncertainty as to the results to be obtained from a Warm Air Heating System. After years of research and investigation, the Manufacturers of Warm Air Heating Systems, through their National Organization, have formulated an exact and scientific basis for the installation of Warm Air Heating Systems. These rules have been adopted as the Standard Code by the manufacturers, dealers and installers of Warm Air Heating Systems and are your assurance that your Warm Air Heating System will give the utmost service and satisfaction with the minimum of trouble and expense.

It is desirable that all home owners, architects, builders and contractors should inform themselves on this important subject. They should read and study the Standard Code and see that its provisions are incorporated as an integral part of their building specifications.

The Standard Code has been printed in pamphlet form and a copy will be sent free of charge to all who are interested. Address your inquiries to E. E. Krommacker, Secretary, 700 Board of Education Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Rogers Gained 15 Pounds in Six Weeks

Slender Men and Women Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days or Money Back.

My Dear Friends:

After my attack of Flu I was thin, rundown and weak. I had a sallow complexion, my cheeks were sunk in and I was continually troubled with gas on my stomach. I felt stuffy and had lost my appetite. I had read about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and decided to give them a trial. At once I began to pick up an appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for me.

Miss Alberta Rogers, 204 W. Cerve Gorda St., Decatur, Ill.

To take on weight, grow strong and vigorous, to fill out the hollows in cheeks and neck, try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 30 days. 80 tablets—60 cents at Wolff-Wilson, Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, Enderle Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co. and live drug stores everywhere. If they don't give you wonderful help in 30 days, get your money back—you be the judge. But be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine.

SHERIFF MAY SUE FOR CUSTODY OF CITY JAIL

Mandamus Action Likely if Refusal of Schuler's Demand Is Persisted In.

A mandamus suit is expected to be filed in Circuit Court in a few days by Sheriff Schuler, to gain custody of the city jail, if Director of Public Welfare Salisbury and City Jailer Lefman persist in their refusal to meet the Sheriff's demand of yesterday for custody. Counsel for the Sheriff, Oliver T. Remmers, said he would give the city officials time to "cool off" before proceeding further. Last night, after receiving an opinion from City Counselor Bent that the Sheriff has no authority to take charge of the jail, Director Salisbury sent a written refusal to relinquish control to Sheriff Schuler. The director also asked for the removal of a Deputy Sheriff who was stationed at the jail yesterday to prevent the removal of any prisoner without an order from the Sheriff. The deputy was withdrawn today.

Sheriff Schuler's demand was based on Section 12551 of the Revised Statutes of 1919, providing for the Sheriff of each county (St. Louis being virtually a county) to have charge of the jail. Counselor Bent pointed out that there is a special act for the city of St. Louis in the Revised Statutes of 1899, exempting the St. Louis Sheriff from such duties of a county sheriff as are inconsistent with provisions of the scheme of separation and Charter of 1878.

The present charter empowers the city to establish detentive and penal institutions, and under this authority ordinances were passed providing for the office of jailor. The Counselor pointed out. Even if these ordinances had not been passed, the Counselor declared, control of the jail by the Sheriff would be inconsistent with another charter provision for a corrective division of the Department of Public Welfare, to operate detentive and penal institutions. This division never has been established. Section 12551 confers no authority on the St. Louis Sheriff to take charge of the jail, the Counselor held, since the earlier special statute and the charter interfere.

GETS FLOOD OF ADVICE ON HOW TO GIVE AWAY WEALTH

Millionaire Philanthropist Overwhelmed With Replies to His Query.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Leopold Schepp, millionaire philanthropist, received a convincing demonstration today of the interest held by the public in the subject of philanthropy. By telegram, telephone, messenger and mail Schepp received replies to his request yesterday for suggestions as to how he might best distribute the remainder of his surplus.

Schepp has made it a point to maintain personal supervision of his charitable activities, but this forenoon he announced that he would leave for his country home in Connecticut. His augmented but still overworked office force would like to do the same.

HARRIMAN GETS SOVIET MINES

Control of Georgian Manganese Deposits Passes to American.

TIFLIS, July 22.—The control of the Chistouri Manganese Fields yesterday formally passed into the hands of W. A. Harriman & Co. of New York, the Soviet State Manganese Monopoly having liquidated its holdings. The liquidation of the Georgian Government State Monopoly for the export of manganese from the rich Chistouri mines within 45 days was one of the provisions of the contract signed on June 12 in Moscow by representatives of the Harriman interests and by M. Dzerzhinsky, head of the Supreme Economic Council, and George Tchitcherine, Minister of Foreign Affairs, for the Soviet Government.

FARMERS INCREASE INCOME

Receive $448,000,000 More Than Last Year.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Farmers received a gross income of $12,126,000,000 for the year ended June 30, which, the Department of Agriculture estimates, is more than they had taken any year since 1921. The income was $448,000,000 greater than last year and was attributed almost wholly to the increased value of grain and meat animals, particularly wheat and hogs.

A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I purchased some. The first application gave relief so I continued the treatment and in about a month I was completely healed." JUSTICE OF PEACE FINED $10
FOR ANNOYING YOUNG WOMAN

Thomas Davis of Tilden, Ill., Pleads Guilty of Charge at Hearing in Belleville.

Thomas Davis, Justice of the Peace of Tilden, Ill., was fined $10 and costs yesterday in Justice Grossmann's court, Belleville, on a charge of disturbing the peace of Mrs. Anna Adams, 22 years old, of 224 North Tenth street, Belleville.

Mrs. Adams charged that he attempted to become too friendly. Davis said he only visited the Adams home in an effort to bring about a reconciliation between Mrs. Adams and her husband, Tony Adams, and that the only reason that he pleads guilty is because he wanted to get back home where he is also employed in the mine besides looking after the duties of Justice of the Peace.

Tony Adams, the husband, who works in the same mine with Davis, has been arrested on a charge of wife abandonment. He was released on bond.

SUED FOR MAIMING CHICKENS
Belleville Man Defendant in $50
Action Brought by a Neighbor.

Joseph Habel, residing south of Signal Hill, in Belleville, yesterday afternoon filed suit in Justice McCauley's court, Belleville, for $50 damages against Frank Kastel, a neighbor, charging that Kastel killed a number and maimed 25 of his fine chickens. The case is set for trial next Saturday. Habel told Justice McCauley that he exhibited the maimed chickens to officials of the St. Clair County Humane Society and has requested that they take steps to prosecute Kastel.

Kastel explained to Constable John Gaudin that the chickens got into his garden but denied maiming any of the fowls.

CHAUFFEUR IN CRASH FINED $10
Six Persons in Car Hit by Cab Were Injured, Driver Says.

Edward Kuehn, a chauffeur, was fined $10 and costs in Justice Tatter's court, Belleville, yesterday afternoon on a charge of reckless driving. The warrant was sworn out against him by Ralph Myers, who charged that Kuehn crashed into his car at Ninth and West Main streets last Sunday night and that six persons in the car were injured. Myers testified he was taking the occupants of his car home from a party when the accident occurred. Kuehn's attorney did not place any witnesses on the stand but stated after the verdict of guilty was pronounced by Justice Tatter that he would appeal the case to the St. Clair County Circuit Court.

GIRL IS INJURED BY AUTO

Mildred Brown, 8, of East St. Louis, Suffered Fractured Leg.

Mildred Brown, 8 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lovelace Brown of 2510 Natalie avenue East St. Louis, is at St. Mary's Hospital there suffering from a fractured right leg and body bruises as the result of an accident at 1 p. m. yesterday when she was struck by an automobile at Twenty-fifth street and Natalie avenue, driven by James Masters, a clerk, 19 years old, of 212A Winstanley avenue, East St. Louis.

Masters told police the girl ran from the sidewalk in front of his car as he was proceeding west on Twenty-fifth street.

POLICE MUST WEAR UNIFORMS
Belleville City Council Votes 5 to 6 on Question.

The Belleville City Council yesterday adopted a motion by a vote of 5 to 6 that all patrolmen don uniforms. The controversy arose when Patrolman Walter Eckert was permitted to walk his beat in plain clothes. Some of the Aldermen objected and brought the matter to the attention of the City Council. Eckert claims he can do better duty in plain clothes. Eckert will have to don a uniform Sept. 1 or quit the force.

Wants to Die a Poor Man.

BRIGHTON, England—Bernard Baron of Brighton last autumn made it known in the papers that he wished to give money to any charity which he considered a worthy object. Since last October he has already given away $50,000 pounds sterling, and roughly a million pounds to different charities. In one week alone he received no less than 5000 begging letters, and at a dinner the other day he declared that the more he gave away the happier he was, and he hoped to get so far as to be able to die a relatively poor man.

GERMANY WILL LEAGUE WITHOUT OF NEUTRA

The Reich Also Will Not Security Pact Any Ally Answer to Briand

By SAMUEL SPIEWACK, Berlin Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.

BERLIN, July 22.—Germany will under no circumstances join the League of Nations, unless her territory is declared neutral in all emergencies.

Such is the essence of the German answer to security-pact proposals as drafted today by a high German official. As he postulated that, the Reich, eager as it is to have the pact, must nevertheless reject any proposal which would make its territory a battle field for a European war. Secondly, the Reich will not accept as a trustee of the pact any ally of France.

These two conditions Germany will insist upon, as it has in the weary months of preliminary negotiations. They are no mean obstacles. The New York World and Post-Dispatch's informant said:

"At the present moment, there is great tension between Great Britain and Russia. Any moment this may become a crisis. We cannot be drawn in such a conflict. We cannot permit troops to march across our territory."

The speaker was present at all Cabinet meetings at which the security pact was discussed during the past weeks.

"If the allies believe Germany must enter the League of Nations before the pact is concluded, we will concede this. But we cannot enter the league except with the same status as Switzerland. We are disarmed and the rest of Europe is heavily armed. We must remain out of all conflicts."

The New York World and Post-Dispatch's informant said the pact undoubtedly would have a reaction on the machinery of the occupation of the Rhineland, but that no one expected immediate results. What the Reich will want in a conference, on the principle there is nothing to lose and there is always the chance of gaining an advantage in any general discussion of Europe's troubles.

Berlin's View of Guarantee of Treaties of Arbitration.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 22.—The German security note, which was delivered to France and Great Britain Monday, expresses satisfaction that the allies are disposed to co-operate with the German Government for the consolidation of peace by way of a mutual understanding, offers opinions on the allied proposals on some questions of principle, and makes reservations on points of detail for final negotiation.

The first section deals with the allied claim that the pact must not involve modification of the peace treaties. Germany maintains that she is not barred from attempting by peaceful agreement alteration of existing treaties to meet changed circumstances and that she is entitled to attempt to secure modification of the provisions of the Versailles Treaty with respect to military occupation of German territories.

Germany, however, does not insist upon treaty changes or modification of the military clauses before the proposed security pact can be concluded.

Relation of Pact to Treaties.

"Should the allied Governments intend to make the provisions of the treaties concerning the military occupation of German territories a pre-condition for the future," adds the note, "the German Government would like to point out that the conclusion of a security pact would represent an innovation of such importance that it could not but react on conditions in the occupation of territories and to the question of occupation in general."

The second section asked for clarification concerning the proposed arbitration treaties. Germany has in mind arbitration treaties harmonious with the league covenant. On the other hand, according to the note, the allies evidently contemplate permitting coercive action by one State against another, without arbitration preceding such action.

This would mean, in effect, partial reprisals in the matter of reparations payments, and the danger of military action against Germany if the allies believed Germany had violated Rhineland demilitarization.

The note proceeds to deal with the serious consequence, which might arise from the form of the French proposals for the guarantee of the treaties of arbitration. Pointing out the absolute power which it is proposed to give the arbitrator, the note says:

Assault System of Guarantees.

"This would mean that should a conflict occur it would be for the guarantor to decide which of the contracting parties to a treaty of arbitration should be considered the aggressor and he would have the right to decide, even if he were bound to one of the contracting parties by a special alliance. It is quite clear that the system of guarantees would by such construction

Waste of City Water.

OUR Water Commissioner, Mr. Wall, is complaining about waste of water and threatening to place meters in our houses as a check. I would like to suggest that the Police Department be required to notice fire and sprinkling plugs on the streets and report at once to the Water Department all plugs leaking. For two days the fire plug at the southeast corner of Twelfth street and Clark avenue has been leaking a steady stream. Dozens of policemen pass the place daily, but nothing has been done to stop it. At Tenth and Warren streets, northwest corner, a fire plug has been leaking several days. A person passing near it can easily hear the water running. I have not gone looking for these; just noticed them as I passed by.

Another practice which I think should be stopped which would save the city thousands of gallons of water is this: Our Harbor and Wharf Department cleans off the levee quite often and in doing so attach their large fire hose to the fire plugs on the levee, using filtered city water to flush the cobblestones on the levee. The harbor boat to which these belong has powerful pumps, placed there especially for the purpose of taking water from the river for this work, instead of using city water. Some years back the harbor boat crews used their pumps and never dreamed of using the water from the fire plugs.

Then, too, the sprinkling cart drivers are careless in shutting off the water after filling their wagons and I believe Mr. Wall should caution them to be careful. I am not in favor of the meter system for the City of St. Louis or any large city, but if the suggestions outlined above are followed, I believe a considerable saving will result.

Old Age Pensions.

In answer to "Grandpa" and "Sympathetic" and all others who have written from time to time in regard to old age pensions, I would like to suggest that something will be done by those in this city who have the money and influence to, as Grandpa says, "boom up the measure."

Let each applicant for a pension be carefully investigated as to his character for claim made, but in the name of love and charity, let some body of Christians put themselves in the place of these poor unfortunate ones left in their old age, through no fault of their own, without means to live till relieved by death.

A FRIEND.

A Citizen's Experience.

THE real with which our traffic police perform their duties makes one suspect that they are situated, with houses, prizes and competitive contests. It seems that the big objective in the business of preserving public safety and order is to make a record of arrests. It is not a question of guilt or innocence of the citizen, having at one time lived in Russia, whence I fled, our police methods remind me of the report of checks and cosack gendarmes methods of that country.

I was recently dragged (literally dragged) into the police station on a charge of not having a city license on my car. The near-sighted policeman who failed to detect the coveted license at once, would not listen to my explanations and in his loyalty to duty insisted on checking the crime right there and then. As per custom I was bonded and charged to appear before the Court, where after two hours waiting, a moment's investigation proved that the license was there.

Such incidents were they not so annoying, would be truly comical.

A Difference of Opinion.

WHEN I read your editorial, "Bryan a Menace," I said I will read the Post no more. On second thought I said no, if this I do, my mind will be as narrow, and my soul as prejudiced as the editor's. As I view "Ashby" Bryan's efforts, he is working to uplift mankind out of the mud and mire of life.

You just examine your heart a little bit; see if the workings are clean and free.

Are French Using Gas in War?

WE have read various statements as to the terrible gases and death rays which are in store for the next war. It is to be wiped out in an hour and whole peoples are to be destroyed. Presumably the French, having one of the largest military establishments, are as well provided in this respect as any nation. Why is it, then, that we do not hear of the use of these wonderful and deadly agencies against the Riffians, but that warfare in the west front style of a decade ago is carried on in Morocco? Is it possible that some of the "next war" prophets have overworked their imaginations?

CURIOUS.

WHAT KIND OF TAX REDUCTION?

A vast amount of misleading piffle has lately been sponsored by friends of the administration with regard to the burning zeal of the President and Mr. Mellon in behalf of tax reduction. As a consequence, the impression seems to be widely held that until recently there was grave doubt whether taxes would be cut by the next Congress and that this doubt, thanks to the energy, wisdom and patriotism of the President and his Finance Minister, has now been resolved in favor of the taxpayer.

The truth is, of course, that tax reduction has been on the cards for months, or ever since it became known that a surplus was piling up in the Treasury. It is not a new policy, or a policy monopolized by the administration. Democrats in Congress are as keen for it as Republicans. Outside of politics there are some who believe it would be economically sounder to let the present Federal income taxes stand as they are for a while and use surplus revenues to reduce the public debt. That theory has little, if any, support at either end of Pennsylvania avenue. The relative economic merits of a program for the easing of future burdens and a program designed to give immediate relief must remain of merely academic interest. Both parties are committed to the latter.

Whatever economists who take the long view may think of it, no one can question its political wisdom. Tax reduction is assured.

The only practical question that need engage anybody's serious attention at this time is the form that the reduction will take. "Tax reduction" has a fine, large sound. It breeds hopes in everybody, whether his income be in the highest or the lowest bracket, that he will have to pay less to the Government than he now pays. That, however, does not necessarily follow. Taxes may be reduced $300,000,000, as Senator Curtis says is possible, but in such a way as to give little or no benefit to large classes of taxpayers.

"Tax reduction," prior to the actual drafting of a tax bill, can only mean an aggregate reduction in the total paid by all taxpayers.

What the individual taxpayer should know, before going into ecstasies over the forthcoming cut, is how it is going to affect the various classes of incomes. The administration wants, primarily, a sharp cut in the higher brackets, its argument being that the small taxpayer got the lion's share of the benefit the last time and that it is now the turn of the big taxpayer.

Senator Coughlin, while agreeable to some reduction in the upper brackets, thinks it is more important that all incomes of less than $5000 should be wholly exempted from taxation. Others say, vaguely, that there should be a reduction "all along the line."

Mr. Mellon contends that a reduction of the highest tax to something like 15 per cent would increase general prosperity and stop the flow of capital into tax-exempt securities. He says there would be large, indirect benefit to the small taxpayer from any direct benefit conferred on the large taxpayer. When the Mellon bill was before the last Congress he argued that you could cut the high surtaxes 50 per cent without diminishing their productivity. He was persuasive, but not wholly convincing.

The various theories here set out suggest that "tax reduction" can mean many things. There will be tax reduction—that is certain. The question is what kind of reduction will it be.

THE PASSING OF POINCARÉISM.

Poincaré's costly and impolitic invasion of the Ruhr, after enduring for more than two years, will come to an end in a few days. French and Belgian troops are now evacuating the rich German industrial district. By July 31 it is expected the Ruhr will be clear of foreign troops, with the exception of a skeleton force of military police. Even this vestige of occupation will disappear by Aug. 15, when the German police force will be permitted to enter.

What was gained by this militaristic action of Poincaré? If the Ruhr occupation bore any fruit, it is impossible to say what it is. On the other hand, the presence of French and Belgians was a constant source of irritation to the Germans and of expense to a depleted French treasury. It may be argued that the show of force was valuable in impressing upon Germany its treaty obligations. On the other hand, what is the need of showing force to a nation which has neither an army or a navy, and which is conscious of the presence across the border of the greatest military machine in the world?

The Dawes plan was not engineered from the Ruhr, or inspired by the display of bayonets. It proceeded from sensible discussion over the conference table. Likewise the security pact plan did not proceed from the Ruhr, but from the conviction of European statesmen that the time has come to supplant military fanfare with logic and reason.

Poincaréism was a threat and a menace. This last reminder of it passes unlamented into oblivion.

Would you say that Vic has reached his political dotage?

"THE MILLSTONES OF LIFE"

Leopold Schepp, 85 years old, of New York has a dominating ambition. It is to spend the remaining years of his life guiding the distribution of his millions toward "easing the hurts of those caught between the millstones of life." And to increase the success of his efforts in this noble quest he humbly asks the public for suggestions.

Judging by his remarks Schepp is already several jumps ahead of the public on this question. He condemns the leaving of large sums to a few people. Not that he believes in communistic distribution or dotes. He expresses an earnest wish to remove handicaps so that victims of misfortune "may face the requirements of life with a better chance of making a real success of it." He hopes in some way to "lay a foundation for the permanent betterment of society generally."

Our great philanthropies, of course, such as the Rockefeller, Carnegie and Russell Sage foundations, have been designed with this very object in view. They are the product of careful, scientific, unemotional study of ways and means to extend the reach of the philanthropic dollar. Possibly the conclusions reached by the founders of those great institutions cannot be much, if any, improved upon.

Schepp, nevertheless, is to be commended for not being satisfied to accept ready-made methods. His ambition and imagination at his age are little short of marvelous. For 60 years a successful business man, now with millions to give away after having already lavished millions for the betterment of others—what does he know from experience of "the hurts of those caught between the millstones of life?"

THE ISSUE AT DAYTON.

When the Scopes trial was first opened, the Post-Dispatch, quoting Mr. Bryan's remark that it is "a duel to the death between science and religion," said:

The duel to be fought at Dayton is a duel not between science and religion but between religious intolerance and freedom of thought and scientific research. We hope it will be a duel to the death of religious intolerance and the unrestricted power of majorities to dictate what people shall think and what shall be taught in the schools.

We said further:

We are interested in a decision of the question whether any religion shall be established by law, and whether any scripture regarded as sacred by any part of the people shall be set up as the legal standard and test of the truth of scientific discovery and the standard of teaching.

And, again:

The defense will go far afield and be lost in a flood of debate if it turns an issue of liberty into a trial of either evolution or religion.

The defense has gone far afield and the main issue has been almost lost in a flood of debate. It has attempted a trial of evolution and religion. We do not doubt that the free discussion, the clash of debate, the exposure of Mr. Bryan's ignorance and intolerance and of his purpose to set up religious tests, and the testimony of scientists have been instructive. They have stimulated thought and aroused intellectual curiosity. They have been beneficial in exposing superstitions and prejudices and intolerances.

The defense did bring up the question of the constitutionality of the antievolution act, but that point was almost obscured by the torrent of debate on science and religion. That is the main point. The big issue is freedom of religion, freedom of thought, freedom of education from any religious test. The big issue is the separation of church and state, of religious and civil authority.

Mr. Bryan charges a conspiracy of scientists to overthrow religion. The conspiracy is the other way. There is a definite conspiracy of so-called fundamentalists, who are persistently trying to inject religious tests and regulations into Federal and state constitutions and into the laws. This conspiracy appears under many forms, whether it is recognition of the Bible, the establishment of the Sabbath or the imposition of religious observances or the control of education, thought and private morals through legislation. Mr. Bryan himself is the leader of this conspiracy, and his activities are the best proof of it.

The principle of liberty is at stake in the issue raised at Dayton. That issue must be fought to a finish. That is the issue to which the Scopes defense counsel should devote all their talents and energies.

EXPENSIVE PRISON ECONOMY.

The Missouri Welfare League has found out that to get legislation passed it is necessary to begin early. Its bill providing for an intermediate reformatory went sailing through the House of Representatives last winter. But this meant nothing. The Senate buried it, and now the league must begin all over again. It has undertaken to organize the State in behalf of its program.

The story of its efforts is a long one—too long to hold the average reader in summer weather. Suffice it to summarize that the league wants the State to establish a new penal institution for young adult prisoners and first offenders up to 30 years of age, supplying all possible conditions for correction and reform, while segregating the young men from boys of tender age who are now the victims of association with older prisoners schooled in crime. To establish and maintain such an institution would cost the taxpayer on a $10,000 assessment only 22 cents a year.

Is that too much to pay for human salvage? Is it as expensive as tragedies such as the recent murder of a policeman and a bystander in St. Louis by one of the products of the present congestion and chaos in the penal institutions of the State?

HER FOURTEEN POINTS FAILED, TOO.

Mrs. Whitney of Brooklyn was courting disaster when she tried to make peace with her husband, and inviting certain doom when she framed her peaceful principles in 14 points. A husband, after all, is very much like the United States Senate. He resents the executive authority of his wife, and he senses a trap in any document written by her. Mrs. Whitney's husband, in particular, was a very poor one to talk peace to. He is an ex-soldier, who fought in the "war to end war," who watched the collapse of Woodrow Wilson's 14 points, and who probably thinks that peace is a desirable but never-to-be-attained state.

Nevertheless, this dauntless woman deserves praise for her effort. The 14 points for domestic happiness she laid down are all good and worthy the attention of mankind. Her ruling against spheres of influence by mothers-in-law was masterly. Her pronouncement of autonomy for wives was noble. She reached lofty heights in Point 12: "No more talk of bachelor freedom, or entertaining of young ladies by you." She rightly held that her husband should not treat with other nations outside the league.

But, of course, he would accept the 14 points only with reservations. He disliked her dictatorial tone, and in his reply we remember the words of Henry Cabot Lodge. This husband and that statesman were no different. One had the dignity of the Senate to uphold; the other the dignity of the husband. Oh, peace, will we never see it? Between nations or between husbands and wives?

THE BIG CORPORATIONS.

(Tune, "The Old Oaken Bucket.")

How dear to our hearts are the big corporations—
When fond recollection presents them to
How long we resisted their pooled combinations—
To find in the end there was nothing to do!
The antitrust acts—we can laugh to recall them—
The men who espoused them are dead to a man;
But the big corporations—what harm can they do?
The big corporations we all used to pan.

CHORUS:
The big corporations, the big corporations—
How often of yore we consigned them to hell!
How long we resisted their pooled combinations—
The big corporations now doing so well.

II.
The old Sherman law and the way we revered it—
The Clayton trust act and the big Landis fine!
The Steel Corporation and how we would "beard it"
In the old days when Teddy was hitting the line!
It seems foolish now, when there are no La Follette
Or Roosevelt left—only Greed's little men;
When the rich unopposed are all filling their wallets—
But say what you will, it was glorious then!

CHORUS:
The big corporations, the big corporations—
How long it has been since the last rebel yell!
All captive at last in their pooled combinations—
The big corporations now doing so well.

A current serial romance, purporting to have a St. Louis locale, tells how the bridegroom and bride went to dinner with the old folks at the family home "on South Grand boulevard." It continues: "After dinner she and Dick walked home to the new house." The new house, it has been stated previously, was on Harris avenue.

That is in the neighborhood of O'Fallon Park, and quite a walk for a summer evening, from South Grand boulevard, even if the old homestead were no further south than Reservoir Park. It appears also that the husband carried a pair of grips all the way, for it is stated that "He set their bags on the floor and dropped into a chair" after their arrival. "Dropped" would be correct. An odd circumstance is that the husband had an automobile, which he used the same evening.

It is further related that the Harris avenue love nest, which was built by the young husband, was "white, with green shutters." That is a peculiar color scheme for a brick house. And frame dwellings are not being built on Harris avenue, or elsewhere within the city limits these days.

However, on one important point of local geography the story is dead right. It says the real estate offices are on Chestnut street.

Sir: Do you know I sometimes think there is something simply horrid about the way you men voters have tamely and resignedly accepted the women's suffrage amendment? Familiar as you should be with the psychological complexities of the "female of the species," the chivalric instincts of your own sex ought to dictate some sort of active opposition to the amendment, which is a plain and simple proposition. The women's suffrage amendment is a plain and simple proposition. The women's suffrage amendment is a plain and simple proposition. The women's suffrage amendment is a plain and simple proposition.

But when she sails, and the wind blows high,

HE, mind you, of a ship! Is there not something constitutionally or statutorily heinous about this application of the masculine pronoun to a ship? Cannot something be done about it? Is it not possible to devise some form of punishment that will fit the crime, and thus make the shades of those twin glories of the English drama, Beaumont and Fletcher, exult as grave an offense on their part?

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to represent without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

THE SCOPE OF THE SCOPES TRIAL.

WHAT actually is involved in the trial of the teacher, Scopes, in Tennessee, in telling pupils about evolution—"teaching to law?"

Is it states-rights, as some contend, namely, that the individual state has the power to regulate or dictate what shall, or shall not, be taught within its borders or in its state-supported schools?

Is the clash a conflict between state and Federal authority? The latter specifies there shall be no restriction of freedom of thought or speech in the United States. This epochal event, carefully called the "monkey trial," rather a renewed effort to show science and religion in antagonistic attitudes and of mutually destructive aims.

In the early history of mankind in government, the church was the despotic ruler of the state. Later the state reversed the situation and larded it automatically over the church. In modern days a better plan has been accepted. Separation entirely of the functions of both church and state has been adopted.

Thus we see the theory of evolution is alive at work in government.

Now, in Tennessee, the warped fanatics of fundamentalists would try to make the church control the mind, by use of some of the most ancient and barbarous means of the past. This surely is a retrogression!

It is not evolution but devolution and a revolution backwards!

Whatever the result of the Scopes trial, its scope is clear in the minds of thoughtful people, regardless of the verdict of the jury.

The agitation and publicity will rouse the dormant minds of many folk, who have heard of "Evolution," "Darwin," "Origin of the Species," "Natural Selection" or any of the scientific modern knowledge gathered since the days of Babylon.

We believe that the trial is a disguised blessing. It will emphasize wider rational modern knowledge. This newer knowledge will not displace true religion. It may dislodge some ancient folk-lore superstitions and some childish concepts and traditions such as men like Brann hold—but it will not overthrow the awe and reverence for a Creator and for the Cosmos of all created things.

Men are giving millions now to the study of zoology and biology—rather than to study of theology.

The people, the larger jury, will inform themselves, regardless of result of the trial. They will read and think. Fortunately, the libraries are still open, even in Tennessee. The people will see that ideas that were needed and useful in the education of man, when men were children, are still needed and useful in the education of the mature modern thought and views!

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
LIGHT opera assumes its most attractive guise with this week's production of "The Count of Luxembourg," at the Municipal Theater. This is a musical play of superior quality, with a libretto of lighthearted humor and winsome romance, by A. M. Weller and Robert Bodansky, and a melodious, artfully written score by Franz Lehar, composer of the popular "Merry Widow" and the admirable "Gypsy Love." With a cast which is a commercial theater, would be advertised as all-star, the present quality rises from quantity into quality entertainment. To the writer, it appears the most symmetrical production the Municipal Theater Association has as yet encompassed.

A senile and amorous Grand Duke, one Rutomov of Russia, has as protégée Mlle. Angelo Didier, whom he has elevated from the chorus to a post as prima donna, and whom he is anxious to marry. Here a noblemen of his rank cannot wed an untitled woman. So the Duke quests about for an impecunious nobleman who, for a cash consideration, will marry Angelo. He soon finds the man, a young man, and leaves her after the ceremony, and permit her to divorce him after three months. Having acquired a title by this transaction, she may become the Duke's spouse.

The Texas Intervenor.
An ideal bridegroom is discovered in Count Rene of Luxembourg, who is living the happy-go-lucky life of an artist in the Bohemian quarter of Paris. In order to save his friend, Anatole Brisard, from the persecution of a local shark, Rene consents to the bargain. The marriage occurs, with the contracting parties separated by a screen and invisible to each other.

Three months later, on the eve of the divorce, the Count Rene of Luxembourg is given by the Grand Duke at the Russian Embassy in Paris. It is a case of love at first sight. But when Angelo discovers Rene's identity, she denounces him as a money-grubbing scoundrel. However, she overhears a conversation in which his motive, that of loyalty to a friend in distress, is revealed. Providentially there arrives an appalling old hag with a tooth, Princess Kokosoff, bearing the Duke's command that Rutomov make her his wife, and everybody is happy except the ill-starred Grand Duke.

McCarthy as First Comedian.

Mr. McCarthy promoted this week to the position of first comedian, justifies his advancement with one of the most hilarious performances he has given here—that of a Grand Duke filled with stratagems which recoil on his own head. Miss Magnus, a St. Louis girl and a graduate of the Municipal Theater chorus, makes her debut in a full-fledged soprano role, that of Juliette, a model, and easily effaces memories of her predecessor, the same by means of her poise, grace, archness and engaging skill at dancing.

Mr. Huff, with songs well within his genuine range and a role suited to his personality, recalls the fame won by him as the original Prince Danilo in "The Merry Widow." Miss Mershon, appearing for a few minutes at the end as Princess Kokosoff, almost disrupts the show with a superbly ridiculous mugging. Even more than before, Miss d'Arle is an eye-catching apparition as well as a delight to the ear. The popular young Mr. Woodruff, advanced to the post of second comedian, is one of the most pleasing figures of the performance, and has much opportunity for his singular agility as a dancer.

Chorus Members Advanced.
The lengthy list of characters bridges forward into name-part several capable members of the chorus, including Misses Brinkley and McCarthy and Messrs. Sager, Betts, Berry, Firmin, Leo and Rupp. The chorus itself, restored to its functions for which it was principally assembled—namely, ornament and dancing—is sparkling and handsome.

A word should be added for the first act setting—originally a studio scene, but wisely transferred to a garden. A cottage of cubic structure, together with walks, a gate and a bower or so, are entirely in key with the principles of outdoor stagecraft. Last night's audience, a large one, gave the production and performance well-merited signs of appreciation.

Miss Fanny Block to Sing.
Miss Fanny Block of this city will appear as substitute for Miss Lorna Doone Jackson in tonight's performance of "Hansel and Gretel" at the Garden Theater, and will sing the role of the witch.

Miss Block will sing the role of the mother, Gertrude.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
LIGHT opera assumes its most attractive guise with this week's production of "The Count of Luxembourg," at the Municipal Theater. This is a musical play of superior quality, with a libretto of whimsical humor and winsome romance, by A. M. Wueeller and Robert Bodansky, and a melodious, deftly written score by Franz Lehar, composer of the popular "Merry Widow" and the admirable "Happy Love." With a cast which is a commercial theater, would be advertised as all-star, the presentation rises from quantity into quality entertainment. To the writer, it appears the most symmetrical production the Municipal Theater Association has as yet encompassed.

A senile and amorous Grand Duke, one Rutzmay of Russia, has as protégée Miss Angèle Didler, whom he has elevated from the chorus to a post as prima donna, and whom he is anxious to marry. But a nobleman of his rank cannot wed an untitled woman. So the Duke's quest about for an imperious nobleman who, for a cash consideration, will marry Angèle, leaves her after the ceremony, and permit her to divorce him after three months. Having acquired a title by this transaction, she may become the Duke's spouse.

The Tzar Intervenes.
An ideal bridegroom is discovered in Count Rene of Luxembourg, who is living the happy-go-lucky life of an artist in the Bohemian quarter of Paris. In order to save the persecution of a loan-shark, Rene consents to the bargain. The marriage occurs, with the contractual parties separated by a screen and invisible to each other.

Three months later, on the eve of the divorce, Angèle and Rene meet at a party given by the Grand Duke at the Russian Embassy in Paris. It is a case of love at first sight. But when Angèle discovers Rene's identity, she denounces him as a mercenary scoundrel. However, she overhears a conversation in which his motive, that of saving a friend in distress, is revealed. Providentially there arrives an appalling old hag with a noose, Princess Kokozoff, bearing the czar's command that Rutzmay make her his wife, and everybody is happy except the ill-starred Grand Duke.

McCarthy as First Comedian.
Mr. McCarthy, promoted this week to the position of first comedian, justifies his advancement with one of the most hilarious performances he has given heretofore. That of a Grand Duke filled with stratagems which recoil on his own head. Miss Magnus, a St. Louis girl and a graduate of the Municipal Theater chorus, makes her debut in a full-fledged, scoubrette role, that of Juliette, a model, and easily effaces memories of her predecessor this season by means of her poise, grace, archness and engaging skill at dancing.

Mr. Huff, with some well within his genuine range and a role suited to his personality, recalls the fame won by him as the original Prince Danilo in "The Merry Widow." Miss Marshon, appearing for a few minutes at the end as Princess Kokozoff, almost disrupts the show with a superbly ridiculous make-up. Even more than before, Miss d'Arle is an eye-filling apparition as well as a delight to the eye. The popular young Mr. Woodruff, advanced to the post of second comedian, is one of the most pleasing figures of the performance, and has much opportunity for his singular agility as a dancer.

Chorus Members Advanced.
The lengthy list of characters brings forward into name-parts several capable members of the chorus, including Misses Brinkley and McCarthy and Messrs. Sager, Berry, Firmin, Leo and Rupp. The chorus itself, restored to the functions for which it was principally assembled—namely, ornament and dancing—is sparkling and handsome.
A word should be added for the first act setting—originally a studio scene, but wisely transferred to a garden. A cottage, of cubic structure, together with walls, a gate and a bower or so, are entirely in key with the principles of outdoor stagecraft. Last night's audience, a large one, gave to the production and performance well-merited signs of appreciation.

Miss Fanny Block to Sing.
Miss Fanny Block of this city will appear as substitute for Miss Lorne Doane Jackson in tonight's performance of "Hansel and Gretel" at the Garden Theater, and also on Wednesday evening of this week. Miss Block will sing the part of the mother, Gertrude.

GREAT EDUCATIONAL MOVEMENT IN CHINA

Dr. Arthur Bostwick Tells of Campaign to Reduce Language Characters to 1000.

No more impressive fact was found in his recent tour of China by Dr. Arthur E. Bostwick, St. Louis Public Librarian, than the antiquity and solidity of Chinese families, he told the City Club at luncheon yesterday. His tour was in behalf of the American Library Association.

For thousands of years, the speaker recounted, Chinese families have gone on in their accustomed way, while Occidental history was only in the making. "They have authentic pedigrees," he said, "and the average family of Europe looks like 30 cents. The family of Confucius, in its seventy-ninth generation, still is honored."

Chinese families are great democracies, Dr. Bostwick declared, yet the nation is not one because it lacks the cement to tie the lesser units together into a huge block of concrete. Now the nationalists feeling inspired by resentment of foreign domination may eventually become the cement in this observer's view.

"The recent riots were very trivial happenings, compared with this great awakening of national feeling," he said. "Those riots don't compare with what we had at Berlin."

"Cultural progress in China really is very remarkable. You would have your eyes opened if you could see the educational institutions there now, where a few years ago they didn't have any. And too, they had to change their preconceived notion of what education was."

"The Chinese language in monosyllabic, written in ideographs, with tens of thousands of characters. That is one reason why the percentage of literacy has been small. Reading and writing have been enough to constitute a man a scholar. There is at present spreading across China like wildfire the Mass Education Movement, which has selected 1000 characters, thought to be enough to write the language. I know a boy 5 years old who has learned those 1000 characters."

"Everybody in China can read the Chinese characters, but they don't call them characters by the same name in different sections. For instance, a merchant in Canton can read a letter from one in Peking, but he couldn't understand the man from Peking speaking the same words. They are printing books in the 1000 characters now, and issuing a paper with them, and including them with pictures indicating their meaning, instead of pictures of actresses, in cigarette packages. The education movements are permeating China."

Three Religions.
"Lots of people inquire if there is a religion in China. There are three, Confucianism, which is really a system of ethics; Taoism, and Buddhism, which has been in China so long that it seems indigenous; the Chinese worship a different Buddha from that of other lands. There are two foreign religions, Mohammedanism, which never has undertaken propaganda there, and Christianity, regarded as foreign, which is an obstacle."

"I found in a large orphanage near Peking three chapels side by side. Over one entrance was a Chinese character standing for "righteousness," this was the Confucian chapel; on one side was the Buddhist chapel, with a swastika over the door, and on the other was a Christian chapel, with the cross over the door."

Boston Professor Traces History of "Foreign Aggression."

Disavowal of extra-territorial rights in China and stopping collection of duty on Chinese imports by representatives of creditor governments were advocated to allay feeling in China against outsiders by Dr. Homer E. Wark of Boston University, who spoke yesterday at a weekly luncheon of the Scottish Rites Club at the American Annex.

The present uprising in China is led by an "intelligent minority," Dr. Wark said, as contrasted to the massed uprising of the uneducated masses 25 years ago. "These people know what they want, and what they are about," he added. "For that reason they are vastly more important than the Boxers."

He traced the history of anti-foreign animus in China from the beginning of that nation's modern contacts with the outside world. Remotely it came from the unreasoned and fading idea of "foreign devils," he said, but its immediate source was the record of "100 years of Western aggression against China."

"That is 100 years we wish we could forget," he continued. "Not that it was all on one side. The Chinese made their mistakes. But it is not a record that reflects credit on the West."

Causes for "Uprising."
"To give you an idea of the forces that were at work in China in this period, I need only say that it was in these 100 years that the same nations took over Africa and carved up the continent, like a melon, without any regard for its people. The same thing would have happened in China, had it been as easy to do there."

As recent developments leading to the "uprising," he mentioned the new educational movement and the growing of the nationalist spirit on the one hand and industrial development on the other. He touched on shocking conditions of workmen and immense profits of capitalists in Chinese industry.

"Much of the capital is Western and many—I do not say all—of these conditions occur under Western influence," he remarked.

Foreign Hold on Duties.
"When foreigners began to enter China in numbers they obtained 'extra-territorial rights'—the right to be governed in China by the laws of their own countries. Many other privileges, not contemplated in the original concession, since have accrued. The foreigners have gathered in little settlements—little republics—wholly independent, with their own government, their own laws, their own courts."

He pointed out that extra-territorial rights had been given up in Turkey and Japan. "At the beginning of China's modern development," he went on, "she had to borrow. Her credit was not high, and so the Western creditors arranged to have their representatives collect duty at Chinese ports, devote its first to payments on interest and principal and let the Central Government have what was left. In other words, outsiders fix the value of the goods, attach a 5 per cent duty and then collect the money."

HUMPHREY A. GIFFORD FUNERAL TO BE PRIVATE

Manager of Brokerage Office Died at Hospital From Effects of Nasal Hemorrhage.

The funeral of Humphrey A. Gifford, 34 years old, manager of the St. Louis office of Lee Higginson & Co., brokers, who died at St. Luke's Hospital yesterday from the effects of a nasal hemorrhage, will be private.

Gifford, whose home was at 326 North Euclid avenue, had been ill for three weeks. After his first attack of the trouble an operation was performed at the hospital and he returned home. Infection setting in, he had to return to the hospital.

Mrs. Gifford, who was Miss July Collins, daughter of the late Charles Cummings Collins and Mrs. Collins, has been visiting in California. Her marriage to Gifford took place at St. Peter's Episcopal Church on Dec. 8, 1917, during the World War, when he was on a brief leave from the army. Gifford, who had been graduated from Harvard in 1912, had received his commission as a First Lieutenant of Coast Artillery shortly before the wedding. Six months later he was sent overseas.

Gifford was the son of William L. R. Gifford, librarian of the Mercantile Library, and Mrs. Gifford, of 411 North Newstead avenue.

NICE, July 22.—Florence O'Neill of Pittsburg, Pa., well-known newspaper man, was married yesterday to Mile, Bons d'Anty. The bridegroom was one time part owner of the Pittsburg Dispatch. The bride is a niece of a former Minister plenipotentiary from France to China, now deceased.

Interested nations on Chinese soil to adjust these two sources of friction, he said: "I believe it would be the best thing America could do toward the peace of the world. We can let the situation slide along, but some day the Chinese will get strong enough to rise up and kick us out."

100 AMERICANS AT ROYAL GARDEN PARTY

Seven Thousand Persons, Many From Foreign Lands, at Palace Fete.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 22.—One of the most successful and colorful Royal garden parties given since the war was held in the beautiful grounds of Buckingham Palace yesterday afternoon, with King George and Queen Mary as hosts to 1000 of their subjects and distinguished guests from foreign countries, including about 100 Americans.

Among the few formal presentations were a number of State representatives of the National Society of Colonial Dames of America. They were introduced to King George and Queen Mary because of their activity in collecting $100,000 in the United States for the upkeep of Sulgrave Manor, Washington's ancestral home in England.

The King and Queen had the traditional "Royal Weather" for the garden party. Although there was a heavy thundershower in the early morning, the rain only served to freshen the foliage, the flowers and the lawns, which added beauty to the scene. The afternoon was sunny and warm.

King George wore a gray morning suit and a gray top hat. Queen Mary was charmingly dressed in pale heliotrope, trimmed with pearl ornaments and carried a heliotrope parasol. The Duchess of New York wore a painted chiffon gown, with a white ground and a bold floral pattern. The Queen of Rumania was a striking figure in white, with a flame colored cloak. Her headpiece was of gold tissue, shaped like a helmet. The Queen of the Belgians was dressed in white and gold brocade.

There was quite a crowd of foreign royalties present, including Prince Chichibu of Japan, and also a number of gorgeously dressed Indian Princes, who added picturesque to the scene. William H. Leeds of New York and Mrs. Leeds, formerly Princess Xenia of Russia, were among the guests.

BURGLAR WOUNDED AND CAUGHT IN CHASE

Man, 23, Was Trying to Break Into Clothing Store on South Broadway.

Aroused by the sounding of an automatic burglar alarm at 3:30 a. m. today, a squad of patrolmen and detectives from the Soudard station rushed to the Union Clothing Co.'s store, at 2004 South Broadway, and, after a chase of several blocks, shot and captured a man they had caught in the act of breaking into the store.

The prisoner, who described himself as Joseph Erhardt, 23 years old, of 1601 South Broadway, a dger, was taken to the city hospital, where he is suffering from a bullet wound in the right thigh.

Surprised by the police when about to climb into a rear window from which he had tried the iron bars, the man had fled up a back stairway, down the other side and south to an alley near Russell boulevard, where one of numerous shots fired by the pursuing officers brought him down. In his pockets were found a fully loaded revolver, a flashlight and 31 cents.

To a Post-Dispatch reporter at the hospital today, Erhardt declared it was his first attempt at burglary and that his decision to turn criminal came last night when he found himself out of work, hungry and with only 31 cents in his pocket. He said he had a wife and two children who reside at a children's home at Ferguson, where the mother is employed.

Erhardt related he was employed by Morgens, garment cleaners, until two weeks ago, when he was laid off. Unable to find another job, he said, he then drew his savings of $100 and sought to enlarge his purse by playing dice, but his venture had been disastrous. He said he owned a Ford car but had been unable to sell it because it was not paid for. He is held pending issuance of a warrant charging burglary.

OVERDOSE OF ASPIRIN KILLED SCHOOLBOY, CORONER FINDS

Verdict Does Not State Whether Jesse Mallory, 13, Took Tablets to Kill Himself.

The coroner's verdict returned today in the death of the death of Jesse Mallory, 13, a schoolboy, of 1905 South Sixth street, said that an overdose of aspirin tablets proved fatal. It added that it was not known whether the tablets were taken with suicide intent. The coroner was not convinced that the boy knew what effect the tablets would have.

Mrs. Hattie Mallory, the boy's grandmother, repeated at the inquest the story told yesterday, that the boy confessed to her he had taken a $10 bill belonging to his father, Roy Mallory. She said he talked of killing himself, and asked whether, if he did so, he would go to heaven. She tried to get him to go to sleep, but soon he called to her that he had swallowed six aspirin tablets. She gave him some soda water, but he died a few minutes later.

PERISCOPIC CAMERA INVENTED

Japanese Are Testing Device on Submarines.

SASEBO, Japan, June 24.—Optical instruments and photographic devices used in the Japanese navy are being improved upon, rapidly, says a naval official here. It is announced that a method has been perfected for the taking of pictures through the periscope of submarines, the details of which are being kept secret.

It is declared that, by the use of the periscopic-telescopic camera, movements of enemy ships can be easily recorded without the submarine itself being detected. The device is being tested and, if it proves to be successful, all the submarines in the Japanese navy will be equipped with it.

HONOLULU, July 22.—United States Judge William T. Rawlins yesterday dismissed a petition for a writ or habeas corpus for Paul Crouch, soldier, convicted by a court-martial here of communist activities. Crouch's attorney gave notice of appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

A similar petition for Walter M. Trumbull was withdrawn last week, no reason being given. Both soldiers are still confined in the guardhouse of Schofield Barracks. Judge Rawlins held the Federal Court was without jurisdiction to interfere in the findings of a court-martial.

BROWNS GAIN 48 POINTS IN SERIES WITH EASTERN CLUBS

Sisler's Men Topped All Rivals With 12 Victories Against But Four Defeats

Detroit Tigers Won 10 Games and Dropped Five to Pick Up 19 Points — Athletics Captured 10 of 16 Starts, but Lost Ground During Battling Against Western Teams.

By Herman Wecke.

That the Browns traveled at a faster pace than any other club in the American League during the interseasonal series closed yesterday is evinced by the figures. The Browns won 12 games and dropped but four to the Eastern rivals for a winning percentage of .750. This enabled the men of Sisler to climb from .474 to .522, a gain of 48 points.

Detroit, which traveled at a .667 pace against the East, showed the next largest gain, picking up 18 points. The Cleveland Indians tacked 6 points to their percentage of July 6. This was the only other team to show a gain. All the others lost ground.

Figures play a peculiar part in the case of the Philadelphia Athletics. Connie Mack's men won 10 contests and dropped six in the West, but nevertheless in the standings table the club fell from 444 to 444. All of which indicates that at this stage of the race a defeat causes a loss of more points than a victory adds. The Mackmen showed the way for the East against the Western aggregations.

Two Stars in Slump.
The Browns played good baseball in all the games with their rivals. They started by trouncing the hated New York Yankees four out of five. They followed this exhibition by taming the world's champion Senators three out of four, and then copped three in a row from the Red Sox. In the series with the Mackmen, the Browns gained an even break in four starts.

In the main, a devastating punch carried Sisler's men to victory. This despite the fact that Marty McManus and Gene Robertson, two .200 hitters, have been in a slump. McManus and Robertson have not hit their weight lately. Still the

How Clubs Fared In Interseasonal Series in American

The figures on the recent interseasonal series with the gain or loss shown by each club, follows:

Team.	W.	L.	Gain	Loss
Browns	12	4	48	0
Detroit	10	6	18	0
Cleveland	8	8	6	11
Philadelphia	10	6	0	4
Washington	7	7	0	28
New York	5	12	0	27
Boston	4	12	0	15

club has gone along winning, with Sisler, Williams, Jacobson, Rice and Hargrave supplying the larger part of the punch. The pitching has been high-class in spots, but in the main it has been the hit in the pinch that has carried the team onward.

In the interseasonal series, the Western aggregations had the better of their rivals from the other side of the Alleghenies, winning 37 clashes and dropping 26. The White Sox and Indians were each one battle under 500. The Senators won seven and lost a like number, while the Yankees and Red Sox proved "soft" for the Browns, Tigers, Indians and White Sox.

48 POINTS IN SERIES WITH

His Thrilling Catch Saved Game

"BABY DOLL" JACOBSON.

Jacobson's Sensational Catch Of Drive From Galloway Puts Brownies in Tie for 3d Place

"Baby Doll" Races to Right-Center Fence and Leaps High to Come Down With Smash With Two Athletic Runners on Way to Payoff Station—Final Score, 6-5.

The Browns today are tied for third place in the American League pennant race with the Chicago White Sox. Sisler's men owe that position to one player—"Baby Doll" Bill Jacobson, star center fielder. It was Bill Jacobson, who made possible the 6 to 5 victory over the Athletics in the final of the series. And it was Jacobson who sent the Mackmen down to second place.

The "Baby Doll" may not own the strongest throwing arm among major league outfielders. He may not be the greatest batter. But as a defensive outfielder, Jacobson takes a back seat to no man. When it comes to fielding his position, Jacobson ranks with the best and that includes such center fielders as Tris Speaker, Ed Roush and Max Carey.

Jacobson has made some great catches during his career. But never a better one than he made against "Chick" Galloway with two men on the bases in the ninth inning yesterday. That catch saved a ball game. Had the Baby Doll missed the sphere a one-run lead for the home folks would have been turned to a one-run disadvantage.

Leaping Catch Saves Game.
When the Mackmen came to bat in the ninth, they faced a one-run deficit, the result of Lefty Grove's inability to locate the plate. Milton Gaston had replaced Joe Giard. The first two batters were retired peacefully enough. Then Simmons singled and Perkins walked. That put the tying run on second and the winning run on first.

"Chick" Galloway came next. The shortstop had tied the score with a homer in the eighth. He leaped high and clutched the sphere with both hands to end a thrilling battle. There are few outfielders in the game who would have even caught up with that drive, much less have made the catch. It robbed Galloway of a triple and the Athletics of first place.

Browns Get Two Homers.
There were other high lights. There was Williams' homer with Sisler on base in the first. Also Sisler's four-bagger inside the park. Also Milton Gaston, who gained his second victory in the series. But Gaston never would have won had it not been for that sensational catch by "Baby Doll."

The Browns counted five runs off Jack Quinn, the veteran spitballer, who was obtained from the Red Sox. Quinn's inability to keep the Browns from belting out extra base hits was responsible for the runs. And then Lefty Grove became generous when he replaced the veteran.

That was the ball game. But in the end there was nothing to it but that catch by Jacobson. The ball game rested on the capture of that drive and the Baby Doll was equal to the occasion.

When Ken Williams hit into the right field blazer in the first, it was his twenty-fourth circuit drive of the campaign and tied him for the major league lead with Rogers Hornsby, Cardinal manager.

Dempsey Affair Will Mark Time Until August 4

Champion, En Route to Los Angeles, Expects to Return Soon to New York.

Marble Bust of Jack Dempsey in Berlin Art Gallery

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 22.—A MARBLE bust of Jack Dempsey has been acquired by the National Gallery.

It was made by the Italian sculptor Ernesto de Fiori during the American pugilist's recent Berlin visit. Hans Breitenstrasser, German heavyweight, persuaded Dempsey, who at first was reluctant, to pose for the bust. In the argument over the cost of the champion, Breitenstrasser said:

"Look here, Jack, if you get hooked you will be forgotten soon. Your only chance of being remembered then would be in this statue. You'd better pose."

Dempsey did.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The Dempsey-Willis case will play dead doggie with the state fathers until Aug. 4. That much was decided upon by the Boxing Commission at its meeting yesterday. It was expected that some action would be taken at once, but inasmuch as Dempsey was on his way to California, there was nothing done with regard to drawing the men together in a bout for the heavyweight championship.

Tex Rickard was supposed to have gone to the fathers with some sort of an excuse for Dempsey in his absence, but even that wasn't done.

"The whole thing rests as it did following last Friday's meeting with Dempsey," said James Farley, chairman of the board. "The championship will be back by Aug. 1 and led to believe, and we voted to wait until then for official action. At that time there will be representatives of all concerned on hand and a definite plan arranged."

"I don't see any reason why I should talk to the commission again. But it's all right with me. I'm going right back to New York when I finish my Pacific business and will see them then."

"I expect to engage in several title affairs before I meet Willis," Dempsey continued. "Fitzsimmons is arranging them for Michigan. I don't know how much I'll meet, but what Fitzsimmons arranges will be agreeable. Naturally I don't want to go up against a man who will wait until I'm back in top condition."

Dempsey Will Return.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 22.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, left here this morning for Los Angeles en route to Los Angeles, said of his tangle with the New York commission:

"I don't see any reason why I should talk to the commission again. But it's all right with me. I'm going right back to New York when I finish my Pacific business and will see them then."

"I expect to engage in several title affairs before I meet Willis," Dempsey continued. "Fitzsimmons is arranging them for Michigan. KEARNS SAYS HE AND DEMPSEY WILL REACH AGREEMENT

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 21.—"I will meet Dempsey face to face when he arrives in Los Angeles," Kearns today when asked if he would, as usual, welcome the heavyweight champion to Los Angeles, when he arrives here tomorrow afternoon from the East, where Dempsey was quoted as having announced he had broken with Charles Alt and Postmaster Louis.

Alt will form the opening battle. Probable batting order follows:

WRAY'S COLUMN

An Uphill Fight.

OUR baseball teams are on their way, but where they are going nobody knows. The Browns are playing pennant ball and the Cardinals have done very well since Rogers Hornsby began to knead them into shape.

But only two-fifths of the season remain and the goal, Pennant Harbor, is still a distant port. The Browns are tied for third place today; nevertheless they are ELEVEN games behind the leaders—MORE than were in last place Boston Braves who in 1914 surged from the cellar to a world's championship in three months.

The Cardinals are tied for fifth place in the National race; nevertheless, on paper, they are closer to their hopes than the Browns. For the Cardinals are TEN games behind the league leaders today.

What will eventuate none can guess. Anything is possible. But if the rule of history in all competition is followed, then the Cardinals and the Browns will gain rather than lose ground for the remainder of the campaign.

The slow beginners usually are the strong finishers; and the bad breaks that halted our teams earlier in the race may give way to some good fortune.

Some Discrepancy.
HOW would you like to live in Boston, where fans are entertained by two fall-end games? They are so very, very tall-end that they can only see the leaders with a telescope.

The Red Sox are no fewer than 30 games behind the dust being kicked up by the Athletics and Senators.

Baiting Big Bill.
THE wonder about Large William Tilden, who represents the peak of tennis, is that he can find his place at the summit. What with the raging he receives from thoughtless spectators, the constant attempts to dislodge him by veteran players and new stars, the advance of years and the harrasing given him by the racketing press, the wonder is that the man is able to deliver at all.

The fact that Tilden, despite temperaments for which perhaps he may be excused, has taken over the game,

CARDINALS SHOULD FINISH THIRD OR HIGHER, DECLARES HORNSBY

Manager Is Encouraged by Hurlers' Work

Rogers' Players Believe They Are Stronger Club Than Reds or Robins.

REAL TEST TOMORROW

Rhem, Rheinart and Mills to Be Used Against the Pirates.

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 22.—When Rogers Hornsby took over the management of the Cardinals the team was in last place, but he repeated at that time a statement he had made earlier in the year that the 1925 Cardinals constituted the best team that he had ever played with.

Today, after the team had lost 11 of 20 games on the road, giving it a record of 29 games won and 18 lost, under his management, Hornsby repeated the statement that he was leading a team with unlimited possibilities.

"I am not predicting any pennant for my team," said Hornsby, "but I do not feel any hesitation about saying that I expect the Cardinals to finish in third place or better. The Giants and Pirates will be hard to catch. They have a good lead at this late stage of the pennant race. Of course, if we have a long winning streak and they happen to fall into a slump, we may accomplish what baseball men would consider the miraculous."

Hurlers' Work Encouraging.
"We have a very good team, well equipped to make the rest of the season. We were off to a bad start. We had numerous misfortunes early in the season—misfortunes which cannot be blamed on any one. The team just started poorly, and today we are a long way behind the leaders. But we have a hard-hitting team, a team which can beat brilliantly, and I am greatly encouraged by the recent performance of the team."

"Mills' work especially is encouraging. His game against the Pirates was a masterpiece, and it was most regrettable that he was robbed of the victory in Brooklyn. He will have put us in third place."

"Then, Rheinart has pitched great ball for us. We should have won for him in Philadelphia, and he won't lose any more games as he pitched as that game, in which he held the Phillies to three runs."

"We will meet a severe test in Pittsburgh. I expect to send Rhem, Rheinart and Mills against the Pirates, and the series will give us a fine chance to cut down one of our chief rivals."

Pittsburgh has a great team this year. My players feel that the Pirates are a great ball club, with hitting strength, speed and fine pitching, and we will go into the series determined to give our best. The Giants also have a great team. But those two teams are the only ones which have any right to contest our right to a place in the upper flight."

Better Pitch Than Reds.
Hornsby's players share his opinion. They feel that they have a great chance to overhaul the leaders and that unless unforeseen misfortunes come they will catch and pass Cincinnati and Brooklyn, which thus far have been contesting the Cardinals' right to third place. The Reds have great pitchers, but they have not a punch comparable to that of the Cards. Brooklyn has Dazzy Vance, but the team is likely to slump at any time, depending as it does on the work of so many veterans.

Six games remain to be played on the trip, three in Pittsburgh, beginning tomorrow, and three in Cincinnati Sunday and Monday, and the Cards will have to win four out of the six to finish with a .500 mark for the campaign on the road.

Mogridge to Return.
George Mogridge, Brownie left-hander, who has been under treatment at Rochester, N. Y., for a sore arm, will rejoin the Browns Monday, the physician in charge of his case announced last night.

Bicycle Meet Sunday.

The entry list for the Quentin Roosevelt Post bicycle races at Little Creve Coeur Lake Sunday close today in order to give the promoters time to arrange a suitable program. Two loving cups and 16 medals will be presented to the winners. The events will start at 2:30 p. m.

The physician said that Mogridge had been hit on the pitching elbow and that the ulna bone had been thrown out of place. He said Mogridge had recovered entirely and would be able to pitch winning ball again for the Browns.

Mails' Arm "Regenerated."
The same doctor had Walter Mails under the knife for three weeks. He said Mails had not injured his arm, but that he had pitched so much that his arm was worn out and needed regenerative treatment. He did not say what treatment had been given the arm, but said that Mails would continue to pitch winning ball for the Cardinals and that he would not have any further trouble with his salary whip.

Skies Weep, Players Smile.
The Cardinals will oppose the Syracuse club today in an exhibition game. The exhibition scheduled at Rochester yesterday was called off when a few drops of rain fell during the forenoon. It was understood that the game had been insured against rain, but the Cardinals' trip to Rochester was for nothing. None of the Cards wept, but they sent condolences to Hi Mason.

European Track Athletes of Today Are Equal to Those of United States, Says Murchison

Germany, Switzerland and Holland Developing Runners Who Belong in First Class, St. Louisan, on World Tour, Discovers.

By Loren Murchison, World's Indoor Sprint Champion.

LONDON, July 10 (By Mail).—After competition with the best athletes of Europe we have been brought to the realization that last athletics over here has reached the same high plane of competition that we have in the States.

We feel reasonably sure now that our best American champions in track and field would have a hard time winning from the best stars of these combined European countries.

We have an abundance of good sprinters, but they would have plenty to do to defeat Houbert and Kornig of Germany; Borgna of Switzerland; Berge of Holland; and Forrit of England.

As for the hurdles, this man Peterson of Sweden can hold his own against Christerrison, Riley, Moore and Guthrie. But I believe that Leighton Dye of U. S. C. could beat him, providing conditions are reasonably equal.

Middle-Distance Men.
In the middle distances, Pelzer of Germany; Martin and Imbach of Switzerland and Paulen of Holland are just as powerful a combination as Helfrich, Tierney, Richardson, Kirby and Dodge. As for the distances, all that Europe has to do is to call upon Nurmi to don his spikes and the victories are theirs.

As far as the track events are concerned, the European stars could probably defeat the American men, if the best of each should meet. But the supremacy would not be right there. For in the field events the Yanks would have them "lashed to the mast." Only in the javelin would the boys on this side of the water be certain of victory. Our array of weight men, Hartnuff, Hills, Houzer and the rest, along with Footell and McGrath in the hammer throw; and Hubbard, Le Gendre, and Norton in the broad jump; and Osborne, Brown and Judah in the high jump; would be about all we would need to clinch the meet.

A Novel Suggestion.
The Europeans are anxious that another man of real worth in the 100 and 200 meters is Borna of Switzerland. A year ago he could not hold his own with Imbach, the 400-meter champion of the Swiss. Today he is not only the best in his country but holds victories over the best sprinters of Europe, including Kornig of Breslau, who is a large man, a discus thrower. He fights his way down the track and wins through sheer strength, having very little natural speed to help him along. Like Kornig he is also an in and out. Indeed, this is characteristic of the European sprinters to have good and bad days, and is no doubt caused by a lack of steady training.

Once they called him the "Old Crank"
—but that was before he lost his Corn

"New dispositions for old corns." . . . That isn't an impossible bargain . . . Doctors know that a corn may plague a man's whole system—nagging his nerves, raging his temper—making him feel mean all over . . . For a corn isn't just a local pain. It's a pain-station on the "main line" of the nervous system. Tiny nerves telegraph its twinges all over the circuit . . . So Blue-jay offers this fair exchange—"New spirits for old corns." . . . Solid comfort comes the moment you put on the soft and downy plaster. Two days later, you remove the pad—and the corn comes out—gently uprooted by the little brown disc of magic medication within the pad.

Miss Wills Goes Into Semifinals

Defeats Mrs. Corbiere With Loss of but One Game in Essex Tourney.

By the Associated Press.

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 22.—Miss Helen Wills of Berkeley, Cal., national women's tennis champion, advanced into the semifinals of the women's invitation singles tournament at the Essex County Country Club here today by defeating Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere of Southboro, 6-0, 6-1.

Miss Wills took nothing for granted but played at top speed and drove her opponent ragged. It was the first time in three days of play here that the champion apparently extended herself. She took the first set in eight minutes, dropping but seven points. Only two games in the match went to deuce, one of which Mrs. Corbiere won.

Mrs. Corbiere reached the fourth round yesterday by defeating Mrs. May Sutton Bundy of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del., won her way into the semifinals by defeating Miss Eleanor Goss of New York, 7-5, 6-4. The match was hard fought and marked by long rallies.

However, whether it is Kornig or not, who reaches the heights, the great interest being displayed in track and field in this country justifies the prediction that by the time of the 1928 Olympics there will be several first-class dash men representing Germany.

Babe Ruth Says:

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—The most interesting thing I've heard about baseball recently, and the stuff that has made the biggest hit with me, hasn't anything to do with the big leagues at all. I found something right here that I never dreamed about.

Probably you don't know George H. Maines or what he has done for baseball. I didn't know a week ago. But I do now. And if anyone should ask me who, in my opinion, was doing more for baseball than any other man in the world, I'd answer: "George H. Maines, former president of the Michigan-Ontario League, who is putting baseball over with the kids."

Since the first of the year, Maines has organized and is supporting the greatest and largest kids' league in the country. The league is 10 times as large as any big league, with 20 times as many players. And every one of them is signed to a contract. That happened right here in Detroit. Won't someone please page the fellow who said that baseball interest among the kids was a thing of the past?

Has Organized 400 Teams.
During the past two months, Maines has organized more than 400 teams, among youths from 10 to 16 years of age. The circuit is named "The School Extension Baseball League," and any kid between 10 and 16 may organize his own club. The minute he signs up, all equipment is furnished free of charge. Each team is allowed to carry 15 players. The clubs are divided into divisions with 10 clubs to a group. The nines that finish first and second in each division are given uniforms, as well as the other equipment.

The Detroit newspapers are back of Maines in all he does. From what I can learn, more than $15,000 worth of equipment has already been given away. And the year's just about half finished. That's proof of the success of the plan. There's more proof in the fact that every man on the Detroit club is interested. Ty Cobb was talking to me about it a few days ago.

Senators and Giants Regain
Lead in Majors

Both Teams Advance in Race
Though Idle — Chief
Bender Pitches.

The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 22.—The Washington Senators and the New York Giants were back in the race-making saddles of the major leagues today, without effort on their part.

Rain, which drove the Giants
from the lead a few weeks ago, helped them yesterday. While they sat idly by as a gentle shower spoiled a game with the Reds,
the leading Pittsburgh Pirates sailed to a Philadelphia triumph. Claude Mitchell limited the Champs to four hits, one a homer by Eddie Coffey, while the Phillies nicked remer for seven bingles to breeze
4 to 2.

The Senators needed not even a scheduled holiday and then sitting back comfortably with folded arms while the chickies lost.
The Giants had a margin of only 3 percentage points on the Pirates, while the Senators were at one more point removed from the Mackmen. A margin of one half game in each case.

Chief Bender Pitches.

In the one other game in the national the Chicago Cubs had a tiring test at Boston. Seventeen inches were garnered by the Rabbits off three Hub pitchers. The score was 15 to 2. Maranville led the carnage with a brace of doubles and a pair of singles.
By breaking even with the Red Sox, the White Sox were forced to tie for third place. Chicago dropped the opener, 6-2, after falling to the mound in the ninth the great Philadelphia pitcher hero yesterday, Chief Bender. The chief was hit for a home run by a strike, but the fans gave him an ovation after he had retired the side.

In the other half of the twin bill at Schalk, in his thirteenth year a major league catcher, during which time he has been with the White Sox, caught his 1576th game. He contributed to a Chigo victory with a single.

An error by Haney defeated the Detroit Tigers in the eleventh inning of a game with the Yankees,
4 to 4.

HEINE MUELLER WORKS
OUT WITH BROWNIES
Heine Mueller, injured Cardinal outfielder, is working out daily with the Browns. Mueller tops off each day's work with a couple of laps around the park. He still has a limp.

NEW COMPLAINTS OF TICKET
SOLICITATIONS OVER PHONE

Salesmen Still at Work Despite Recent Arrest of Karchner and Associates.

Regardless of the recent arrest of Jacob K. Karchner and his force of 17 super-salesmen engaged in selling tickets purported charities by telephone, and the criminal charges placed against Karchner and some of his aids, such solicitors are still at work in the city. Yesterday the police received five complaints about telephone calls from ticket solicitors. Mrs. Max Cohen of 5834 A Delmar boulevard told her a man who said he was Dr. William H. Thaler of 5101 Delmar boulevard had telephoned and obtained her order for two $1 tickets for a "worthy charity." Before the boy on a bicycle arrived with the tickets she became suspicious and called Dr. Thaler, who said someone was using his name wrongly. The tickets proved to be for a purported banquet for the "Memphis Blind children" at Hotel Chase. Mrs. Cohen refused to accept them and tried unsuccessfully to detain the messenger while she sent for the police.

John A. Laird, secretary-manager of the Electrical Board of Trade, also received a telephone message soliciting a ticket for purchase. The salesman in this case gave his name as "Spencer."

Karchner's salesman, before his office was raided, had been disposing of tickets for a banquet of Missouri workers for the Blind at Hotel Chase.

STATE RELIEF SOUGHT FOR
CARNegie BANK DEPOSITORS

Letter to Gov. Pinchot States That Many People Fear Hunger as Result of Failure.

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—A committee, named by residents of Carnegie to consider conditions growing out of the failure of the Carnegie Trust Co. several months ago, today appealed to Gov. Gifford Pinchot to provide specific relief for the hundreds of depositors, many of whom "actually face hunger."

"We are concerned with the plight of at least 50,000 people with whom we deal daily in our capacity as the Carnegie Citizens' Committee on Banking Affairs," read the letter to the Governor. "It is not painting an untrue picture to say that thousands of people have been thrust back 20 years by the failure of this institution. Business is almost stagnant and hundreds of homes stripped of their last savings, actually face hunger. Yet in the three months since the closing of the bank, no specific relief has yet come to these people."

The Governor is asked for some suggestion "as to when the people may expect some definite result in the form of return of some part of the lost funds to these desperate shopkeepers, working people, widows and children."

Baker yesterday to John Mahan, 71 years old, of 2215 North Broadway, St. Louis, who was paroled by Gov. Hyde in 1922 after serving four months of a 10-year sentence for killing Melvin Tobin, 3425 Kennerly avenue, who had kicked Mahan's dog.

30-YEAR DIVORCE LITIGATION

By the Associated Press. NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., July 22.—Jonathan T. Meeker, loser in New Jersey's longest divorce litigation, lasting 30 years, has been ordered released from the Middlesex County jail where he has spent nearly three years for failure to pay alimony.

The Meekers were married in 1855 and began litigation in 1922. Several suits by one or the other were dismissed or denied before Mrs. Meeker was awarded a decree in 1923. In November of that year Meeker was jailed when the $12 weekly alimony he was ordered to pay was $400 in arrears. Meeker's petition for freedom was seconded by the Middlesex County Solicitor, who asserted that the county no longer wished to support him. Anna G. Lines, of Riverside, his former wife, opposed the release.

DIES WHILE SEATED IN AUTO

Frank Mairs, 63 years old, a retired merchant, of 4979 S. Delmar, died of heart disease while seated in his automobile at 6 p. m. yesterday in front of his home.

He had got into the car with his grandson, Charles Kuhlman, 17 years old, and was preparing to start the car when he suddenly died. The boy ran into the house and notified the family. A physician was called and stated that Mairs had been a sufferer for years from heart disease and kidney trouble, the former probably causing death.

The General was in his old sleeves, engrossed in the operation of a new American tractor.

MINERS ASK GOVERNMENT TO INTERVENE IN WEST VIRGINIA

Women and Children Being Evicted and Communion Reported Into State, It Is Charged.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 22.—A nation-wide coal strike unless the Government intervenes to prevent abrogation of wage contracts in Northern West Virginia is threatened by Van A. Bittner, chief representative of the United Mine Workers in West Virginia. He made the threat in a telegram yesterday to Secretaries Davis and Hoover. The telegrams charged that defenseless wives and little children were being evicted from their homes and West Virginia that women were being employed to gouge the miners.

Telegrams protesting against such conditions were also sent to John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Samuel Untermyer, who, Bittner understands, are financially interested respectively in Consolidation Coal Co. and the Bethlehem Mines Corporation.

"The time has arrived," the telegram to Washington said, "when the Government of the United States should take a definite position against abrogation of wage contracts by the coal operators of Northern West Virginia. Unless something is done it will be necessary for the miners of the entire State of West Virginia to join with the United Mine Workers of America, and the rest of the country, in a general strike."

The anthracite scale parity is under way again after a three-day adjournment. The operators have recommended their previous decision to open their books to the miners. They have refused also to furnish data on salaries of company hands.

WALL STREET BROKER ENDS
LIFE AT HOME IN NEW YORK

Act of George G. Haven, 59, Is Said to Nervous Breakdown After Suffered 18 Months Ago

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 22.—Informed by nervous breakdown from which he had been suffering for 18 months, George G. Haven, 59 years old, president of the corporation owning the ground upon which the Metropolitan Opera House stands and prominent in New York banking circles, shot and killed himself yesterday at his East Fifty-third street home.

News of his death was a shock to his six business partners of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Strong, Sturges & Co. They said he had no business worries.

A graduate of Yale of the class of 1887, Haven entered Wall Street soon afterward. He was a director of the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, the Texas and Pacific Railroad and the Southern Porto Rican Sugar Co.

Haven last February married Miss Dorothy James, daughter of Henry A. James of New York and New York City. Besides the widow, two daughters and a son by a former marriage survive.

MOST OF J. N. BONAPARTE'S
PROPERTY IN WIFE'S NAME

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, July 22.—Award yesterday in the Supreme Court of a fee of $5000 to Leon R. Jacobs, who acted as attorney for Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, great-grandnephew of the Emperor, in an action against his wife, revealed that final settlement of the Bonapartes' affairs leaves Mrs. Bonaparte in possession of most of the property which had brought about recent legal difficulties between them. This property has been estimated as high as $500,000.

Bonaparte brought suit several months ago for recovery of his property which he had charged had been affected under an agreement, while he was in a sanitarium, putting all of it in his wife's hands and reserving only a small part of the income for himself.

The first home-grown black grapes appeared on the market today. They were grown by a farmer in the vicinity of Black Jack, St. Louis County, and their appearance is about two weeks ahead of the usual schedule. The supply, however, was small, comprising only about five baskets and a third of a bushel each. The grower got 90 cents a basket.

YOUTH CONFESSES MURDER OF DEPUTY

Wounded Fugitive and Companion Caught Near Carlinville, Ill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARLINVILLE, Ill., July 22.—One of two youths arrested near here today confessed to Sheriff John Russell of Macoupin County that he and his companion killed Deputy Sheriff William Barnes Monday night when Barnes attempted to arrest them at his filling station in Nilwood.

The two youths, who described themselves as Paul Blackburn, 19 years old, and Charles Lewis, 18 years old, and gave Chicago addresses, were arrested shortly before noon by Sheriff Russell and a deputy while walking along a side road, about six miles west of here. The arrest was made after the sheriff had been notified by a nearby farmer that two strangers had been seen walking along the road.

Blackburn, who is suffering from bullet wounds in the neck and shoulder, injured by Barnes, admitted to Sheriff Russell that he and Lewis shot Barnes rather than submit to arrest. He refused to tell who fired the shots.

Blackburn said they left Chicago last Sunday in a stolen Cadillac and, after wrecking it Monday afternoon near Girard, Ill., held up a motorist and robbed him of an Essex coach. He said they committed two other robberies between Girard and Virden and had driven into the filling station to get gasoline when Barnes attempted to arrest them.

The wounded youth said he was shot by Barnes as they drove away from the filling station. When the machine in which they were cowering overturned on a sharp curve about four miles south of Nilwood they succeeded in eluding a posse of about 50 men who combed the countryside yesterday. An airplane from Springfield flew over the neighborhood late yesterday without locating them.

Blackburn was treated at a hospital here. Although his wounds are serious he is expected to recover. His companion refused to make any statement.

SERG. MUNDINGER 50 YEARS ON ST. LOUIS POLICE FORCE

Has Only Drawn Revolver Once, Says Officer, 55, Sole Survivor of 10 Sworn in With Him.

Desk Sergeant Frederick Munding of the Deer Street Police District celebrated his fiftieth anniversary on the force yesterday, but was on hand as usual last night performing the duties he hopes will be his for 10 years more.

Only five men who were on the force when Munding took his policeman's oath, July 21, 1882, are living today, Munding told reporters, and all five have retired from active duty. Munding, now 55 years old, is the only survivor of 10 men who took the oath with him.

During his years of service, Munding said, he has drawn his revolver only once. Yet his efficiency as an officer was recognized in 1889, when he was made a Sergeant. After 20 years' service he was retired but he pleaded to be allowed to remain on the force and started over again as a turnkey. That was in 1895. He lives with his son and daughter at 4711 McMillan avenue.

ARMY AND NAVY ORDER THREE PLANES FOR PULITZER RACE
Craft With Speed of 250 Miles an Hour to Fly in Contest in October.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 22.—Three racing airplanes to have speeds of 250 miles an hour have been ordered jointly by the army and navy air service for entry in the Pulitzer trophy race which will be a part of the international air races at Mitchell Field, Long Island, Oct. 8, 9 and 10. Both army and navy pilots will fly in the contest.

After the Pulitzer contest the three planes will be converted into planes to participate in the Schneider trophy event at Baltimore Oct. 23.

Army machines will be eligible to enter also for the Mitchell trophy for pursuit planes, the observation trophy event and the balloon trophy event at the international races. The chief of the Air Service have already received applications from many pilots who wish to enter the contest.

ST. TERESA'S CONVENT SOLD, JEWS PLAN CONGREGATION

Rabbi Jacob Grodsky Applies to Commission for Office—Handled Property Transfer.
St. Teresa's Convent at 5821 Cabanne avenue, has been sold to a commission which intends to form a Jewish congregation and hold services there after rebuilding the building. Rabbi Jacob Grodsky, formerly Rabbi of the Sherriff St. Francis Congregation, 1508 Wash street, probably will be in charge.

The Sherriff St. Francis Congregation has ceased to exist since a Federal indictment was returned against Rabbi Grodsky, charging him with making illegal sales of sacramental wine.

The Rabbi says he has applied for the office of Rabbi to the new congregation, and his application will be acted upon within two weeks. The deed for the property recently acquired was made to Rabbi Grodsky because he handled the details of the purchase for the commission, whose head was in Europe.

Three Minute Journeys By Temple Manning

Where Feudal Castles Flank the Danube

A GREAT deal of the history of the Middle Ages and even of the past few centuries, centers about the old feudal castles of the Danube. There we can read the history, in the ruins, of the Robber Barons, of famous prisoners and sensational rescues, and there, probably, we could read the story of the tragic end of many famous characters of history.
The Castle of Agstein, for example, was at one time the home of a band of famous robbers. Situated high on the peak of a mountain overlooking the Danube, the gentlemen highwaymen could easily observe the comings and goings along the river and along the very light, the very fresh of life; the divine distinctness heavenly purge. Could one ever real friends with somebody didn't laugh with? Of course couldn't. She and Christopher they laughed. Oh, she had mis- him. Down below the castle, on the river side, is a tiny platform of rock, decorated with a single tree. The robber knights would show their unwilling guests the view of this "rose garden" as they called it and gently insinuate that unless all valuables were immediately turned over, the pleasant visit would be terminated by a headlong leap into the garden.
Weissenkirchen is another spot replete with memories of bygone ages. There one finds the Teisenhofer hof, where tournaments were held in medieval days. It is a quadrangle of old buildings with embrasures that are deeply arched.
Duernstein Castle with its gray walls and crumbling towers has a story that is perhaps more romantic than any of the others. For here, the much sung and popular Richard Coeur de Lion was once held captive by the Duke of Austria. During the Third Crusade in 1189-1192, Richard of England, having quarreled with several of the other European monarchs, attempted to cross the Continent in disguise and so reach the Holy Land. He was recognized near Vienna and sent to Duernstein.
His faithful follower and minstrel Blondel, wandering about Europe in search of his master, happened to reach the castle and, before the king's favorite song before the castle, heard the answering voice. Knowing that Richard was imprisoned there, he finally succeeded in effecting a rescue.
All of these historic castles are now falling into ruins but they are still the mecca of artists and tourists who are interested in romantic atmosphere. For there is probably no place in the world that has so many stories attached to it as this valley of the Danube.

"Using a Paint Brush in Unexpected Ways"

WOMEN have taken the paint pot unto themselves and are wielding the brush as successfully in decorating as in covering plain surfaces.
One woman has just done what she chooses to call a fan room that is quite interesting as an artistic achievement. She first had the walls papered with a plain cartridge paper in pale tan color, tinted the ceiling creamy white, and had the woodwork painted golden brown, and the floor to match. She then had a dado of plain straw matting fastened around the room just at the top of the baseboard, held firmly at the top by a quarter round moulding. This being painted in brown, like the woodwork. Then she stenciled a lovely pattern of purple wisteria on the matting and when finished varnished it. She then took enough Chinese fans, like our palm leaf fans only pointed at the top, decorated them with stenciled motifs of different sorts of purple and lilac flowers, and when done varnished them. She fastened them to the wall with their handles just under the Dutch shelf and their points down on the wall. The fans were close together so that they touched one another at the broadest point, and it made a most unusual effect. The room was furnished in brown painted wicker and had brown and white shaded art rugs on the floor. The draperies were brown theatrical gauze over plain gold gauze which glinted through, giving a wonderful, live color effect.

Women are also doing wonderful things in painting nursery furniture. Not only is the furniture unusual in design but the painted floor as well comes in for its share of the decoration. One floor has been done in a sort of cross-word puzzle effect with a Chinese blue ground. The squares are arranged to run from the corners of the room to a large square in the center, each square being white with gayly dressed Chinese children painted in groups in each. The effect is quite decorative.
Another blue floor designed for a kitchen is decorated with a border of yellow pumpkins and vines. Yellow walls with shelves full of blue china or pottery, yellow oil-cloth on the tables and tubs, with blue line decorations, make this kitchen one to be remembered.
The attic in another home has become a most charming studio for an artist and a sister writer, who have made the place look like a colorful bit of Bohemia. After painting the entire place white, brilliant colored stencil work has been applied in ways to transform the place. Around windows and doors that have been painted in burnt orange with blue decorations, the stencils are run in bands, circles and in oddly shaped motifs.

Gas Super fuel

Carries the Big Jobs of Industry

THE smoking stack, once the symbol of industry, now is the sign of waste and loss. Gas, the clean fuel of science, is the unfailing fuel of foundry and forge. Heating the ovens of industry, it raises new standards of quality production.

Where gas is used, output is greater and quality higher. Gas heat can be regulated to follow any predetermined curve—held at any degree for any length of time, raised and lowered as needed. Uniformity of quality! No spoilage—no waste.

Many are the advantages of gas fuel! Always ready, in any quantity, when and where wanted. No expensive storage of combustible fuel. No hot ashes to increase fire hazard. No wasteful soot nor smoke. Gas means a clean shop, better working conditions—and furthermore, you pay for it after use, not before.

Our gas engineers will welcome opportunity to meet plant men and discuss the subject of gas heat. Write 'phone or call. Industrial Department, Central 3800.

INCOME TAX DRIVE
BRINGS $1,000,000
IN ADDED RETURNS

State Will Benefit to Extent of $20,000 in Assessments
Against St. Louis Delinquents Thus Far.

PUBLICITY FOR THOSE
IGNORING NOTICES

Names of Those Who Respond Voluntarily Within Reasonable Time Will Not Be Published.

The effort of the City Assessor's office, working in conjunction with State officials, to obtain State income tax returns from persons and corporations which neglected to make such returns at the required time, has resulted thus far in obtaining additional returns to the amount of $1,000,000.

These returns will be taxable at 2 per cent, instead of the 1 per cent rate which they would have paid if made at the proper time, the double rate being the legal penalty for delay. At 2 per cent, the amount named will yield the State a little more than $20,000.

Confer on Publicity.

Of the returns made since the special effort began, those of individuals have amounted to about $120,000. The rest of the million-dollar total represents the returns of corporations.

Assessor Gehner conferred yesterday with State Auditor Thompson and with A. R. Morris, attorney for the auditor, as to the question of making public the names of those who have failed to make returns.

Gehner said today that the names of those who have voluntarily made returns, or those who respond within a reasonable time to notices sent out by his office, will not be made public. Those who ignore notices from his office will be listed, he said, and the list will be made public.

Four clerks are now comparing the list of St. Louis income tax returns with records available as to Federal income taxpayers, and with the State's corporation records.

A list of St. Louis Federal income tax returns, obtained last year by State Auditor Hachmann, was sent by the auditor to Assessor William Duder, Gehner's predecessor. The list formed a bundle, which was found in the Assessor's office safe recently, unopened, showing that Duder had made no use of the information furnished him to check up the income tax returns.

To Sue Delinquents.

The work being done by the Assessor and State Auditor, in getting returns from those who, though liable to the State income tax, have failed to make returns, is independent of the City Collector's effort to collect from delinquents who, though assessable, have not paid. These delinquents are to be sued in the same manner as persons who are delinquent in other State and city taxes.

Attention was called to the widespread disregard of the State income law, when Mayor Miller of St. Louis recently declared that he, as a lawyer, believed the State income tax law unconstitutional, because of unfair provisions as to exemptions, and that he had made a return this year or last year.

Comparison of the number of State and Federal income taxpayers has shown that, throughout Missouri, more than 40,000 who have made Federal returns have failed to make State returns, and that the disregard of the State income tax law has been increasing.
